PAROCHIAL SCHOOL IN ENTERTAINMENT

St. Joseph Children Given
Annual Program Next Sunday Evening

The annual entertainment given by the children of the grades of St. Joseph school will be held at 8 o'clock Sunday evening at St. Joseph hall. One section of the older boys will show their skill in fencing while another group of boys will demonstrate gymnastic exercises. The younger boys will present "John and Company" showing the various tools used in erecting buildings. All are "Master Builders".

Some of the little girls will appear in "Troubles of Little Folks" in which they try to solicit the sympathy of their elders and finally decide that it is best to follow the golden rule. "Patric Flowers and Their Flaws" will be presented by the girls of the upper class.

Groups of the girls will appear in national costumes preceded by each nation's flag and flowers. It will be an exceptional display of color and will culminate with the display of the Goldenrod, the national flower of the United States.

The program:

LETTER GOLF

SOUP ON TODAY'S MENU
We have SOUP on today's letter golf menu. It's possible to reach the BOWL in four tries. You'll find one par solution on page 7.

S	O	U	P
B	O	W	L

THE RULES

- 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
- 2—You can change only one letter at a time.
- 3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.
- 4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

59 GET CERTIFICATES FROM VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Fifty-nine certificates will be presented to honor students of the Appleton vocational school at the annual commencement exercises at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at the school auditorium. Honor certificates are given to students whose work was especially well done and of whom the school is especially proud, according to Herib Hellig, director.

One hundred and two of the 140 students who reached the age of 18 will receive certificates. Thirty-eight fell by the wayside in attendance and in general ability to cope with the work assigned to the classes, according to Mr. Hellig.

Norman Knutson of Lawrence college is to sing several selections, and the address is to be made by Mr. Hellig.

Farm Improvements
Henry Lilje, a farmer in the town of Center, this week started remodeling the roof of his residence. Good progress is being made by E. E. Perkins, town of Grand Chute, who started building a new residence on his farm, several weeks ago.

DON'T WANT CORNER IN BUSINESS SECTION

Property Owners Protest to Committee Against Change in Zone Law

Opinions expressed at a public hearing on changes in the zoning law Tuesday evening at the city hall, opposed placing the five corners at S. Mason-st. and W. Prospect-ave in a local business district. Proprietors of the Crabb grocery on one of the corners were interested in having their property placed in the district but if requests could be made to the store building the request will be withdrawn. A petition signed by eight property holders, protesting the placing of the corners in the new district was read and two protesters addressed the ordinance committee before whom the hearing was held.

The ordinance placing property at 114 S. Durkee-st in the commercial and light manufacturing district was not acted upon when it was learned the request to have the property redistricted had been withdrawn. The ordinance probably will be tabled.

No objections were filed against placing part of lot 61, Third ward, in the business district and the committee probably will recommend the council pass the ordinance. The property is owned by E. J. Walsh.

WILSON COMPANY BIDS FOR BIG ROAD JOB

Wilson Construction company will submit a bid for the Amherst-Chadby corner road on Highway 10, in Portage and Waupaca counties, at the meeting of the Wisconsin highway commission at Wisconsin Rapids, Thursday, morning, June 10. The road is to be of concrete, 20 feet wide and 10.941 miles long.

TUTTRUP PRESIDENT OF COUNTY BANKERS

H. W. Tuttrup, president of the Citizens National bank was elected president of the Outagamie-co. Bankers Association at the dinner and meeting at 6:30 Tuesday evening at the Hotel Northern. Other officers elected were Theodore Nickoden, Seymour, vice president; and H. J. Behling, Freedom, secretary and treasurer.

About 100 bankers of Outagamie-co attended the meeting. The principal speaker of the evening was E. Evans of the First National Trust company, Milwaukee, who talked on insurance trusts. A discussion of routine business followed the address.

Plan to attend the KITCHENKOOK DEMONSTRATION Friday and Saturday, June 1 and 2

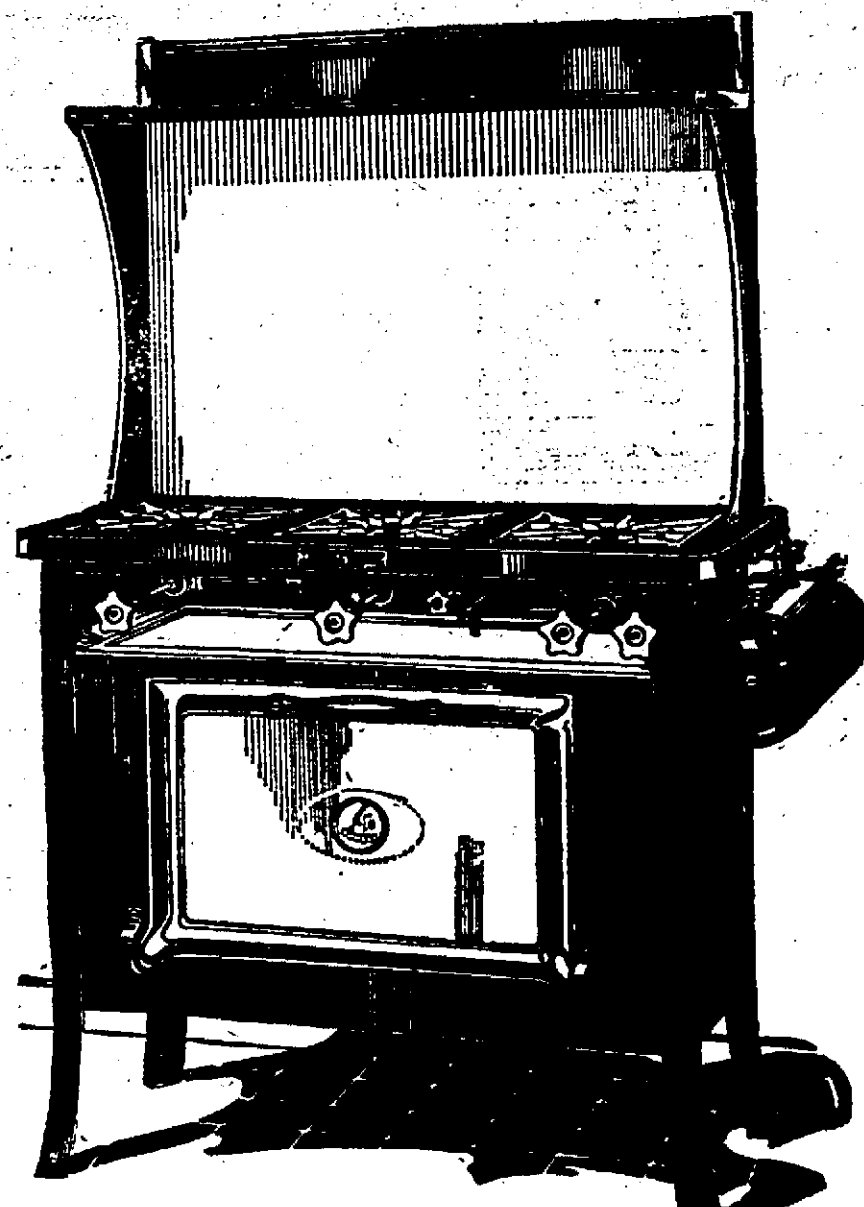

The World's Fastest Cook Stove

Comparative tests made in a leading American University show that the Kitchenkook flame is hotter than gas, 50 to 100 per cent faster than oil stoves and that the operating cost is less.

Rugged Construction —Easily Kept Clean

Kitchenkook is exceptionally well built and durable. It has no complicated mechanism or adjustments; no wicks to trim or replace, no chimneys to burn out. Burners do not carbonize or clog if food boils over.

Kitchenkook need not stand level to burn properly, in fact it will burn in almost any position. It cannot burn while being filled. Removing the tank filler plug for filling releases the air pressure, automatically extinguishing the flame.

City Gas Convenience With- out City Gas

Kitchenkook is a gas stove, manufacturing its own gas as it burns, from any good grade of motor gasoline.

The flame is always under perfect control of the operator, and no other type of stove equals Kitchenkook in range and uniformity of heat. It has all the desirable features of gas, convenience, cleanliness and speed. Kitchenkooks are ideal for hotels, restaurants, and other heavy duty service because of their cooking speed and durability. The low models are especially fine for restaurants, lunch counters, refreshment stands, etc.

Kitchenkook is made by America's oldest manufacturer of gasolene lighting, heating and cooking appliances and the originators of almost every notable development and improvement in these appliances for more than thirty years.

FREE

10 Piece Set of Fry Oven Ware
consisting of 6 custard cups, 1 cake dish, 1 baking dish, 1 casserole, and 1 pie plate will be given away Absolutely Free with each Kitchenkook sold— from June 1st, to June 8th. Come in, folks, see them, you will not be asked to buy. Kitchenkooks sell themselves.

WASHINGTON KNOWS MRS. JAMES WATSON FOR HER READY WIT

April Fool's Day Is a Red Letter Occasion Around Senator's Household

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a series of prospective "First Ladies" by Allene Sumner, writer for the Post-Crescent. Today's article deals with Mrs. James Watson, wife of the senator from Indiana, who is a Republican presidential aspirant.

BY ALLENE SUMNER
Rushville, Ind.—If "The Jim Watsons" move into the White House on March 4, 1929, the politicians might just as well know first and foremost that the president will have little time to bother with the likes of them on April Fool's Day.

April Fool's Day is a red-letter day in "The Jim Watson family," just as it is apt to be in any household full of impish kids.

To be sure, all the Watsons, big and old, know all the jokes. But somebody's bound to get caught.

The Watsons like their pancake joke. They have pancakes and sirup for breakfast every morning, so there's nothing in the mound of brownly crisped cakes in themselves to label the day and make one suspicious.

But somebody's bound to get a cotton cake that morning. That April Fool cake has gone the rounds from Dad and Mother down to Joseph Edwin, aged one.

The Watsons and their April Fool joke give a pretty good idea of the sort of family they are: a "close family," a family which prefers its own society to all the other people in the world; a family which thinks home the best place anywhere.

Naturally, someone is responsible for this family solidarity. In the case of the "Jim Watsons," they say honors are about equally shared in the home job by Mr. and Mrs. Watson.

Mention Mrs. Watson down in Washington and they'll say: "Yes, the handsome Mrs. Watson."

Mention Mrs. Jim Watson here in Rushville, and they'll say: "Yes, that jolly, friendly Mrs. Watson."

Mention her around the home and they'll call her "Mom."

Whenever the senator makes a speech, those who have heard him before are sure of one passage. They say his secretary takes it down even before the senator says it. It goes like this:

"The home is the supreme thing to every man. I am proud to say that for 34 years I have enjoyed as happy and, if you will pardon me, as beautiful a home life as falls to the lot of any man."

What's more, his secretary will tell you, he means it. He says it, not because it's good political stuff, but because he just has to say it.

Flora Miller and Jim Watson went to school together back in Winchester, Ind. The day after their marriage they moved to Rushville, which has been home ever since.

The Watsons courted days in Winchester were a mixture of dirt roads, horse and buggy rides, box socials, church suppers, and the annual road company of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Opera House.

Even to this day, they say, the Watsons like an old-fashioned buggy or sleigh ride or hayrack ride in fragrant hay under a harvest moon.

But in Washington no senator's wife is more poised in sophisticated social circles than "the handsome Mrs. Watson."

"The Jim Watsons" are always popular in a "bridge" game, though the senator likes his solitaire better. They say his idea of a 100 per cent evening is to settle down before the fireplace at his solitaire while "the Mrs."

sits by reading or sewing, throwing out an occasional comment about "the children."

"The children" are James E. Jr., who is 31, married, lives in Chicago, and has two sons of his own; Edwin G., aged 32; Katherine, 20; Joseph C., 18, and "Hoosier," the family bull dog.

Edwin G. says he's never going to marry. "There's no girl like mother," which may help describe Mrs. James E. Watson, another possible "First Lady."

AUTO DESCRIPTIONS COMING IN SLOWLY

Assessor Says There Are Several Ways He Can Check Up on Owners

Appleton automobile owners who have received cards from the city assessor asking that they write in the description of their car and return the card, are facing a highly assessed valuation of the old bus if the cards are not returned by June 1. The cards out an occasional comment about "the children."

"The children" are James E. Jr., who is 31, married, lives in Chicago, and has two sons of his own; Edwin G., aged 32; Katherine, 20; Joseph C., 18, and "Hoosier," the family bull dog.

Edwin G. says he's never going to marry. "There's no girl like mother," which may help describe Mrs. James E. Watson, another possible "First Lady."

BALDNESS

It is a simple matter to fill in the few blanks on the card and sign it and drop it into a mail box, according to the assessor. Those laboring under the illusion that holding the card means the assessor will not know about the car, better save themselves the trouble. There are a half dozen ways in which he can make a check. Many have returned cards and filled in only part of the blanks. Either they forget the name, the model, kind of car, make, or to sign their name after going through the trouble of filling in blanks. The result is that the assessor has additional work to contend with and it may mean that the car owners will have to go through red tape to ask for a rebate next winter when taxes are being paid.

NEENAH AND MENASHA NEWS

CHRISTIAN PEOPLE ABHOR WAR, SPEAKER TELLS NEENAH CROWD

"They Died for Their Country" Subject of Talk Given by Jefferson Man

Neenah—The "They Died for their Country" was the subject of the address given Wednesday afternoon by Earl C. Macdonald of Jefferson, during the annual program in observance of Memorial day.

The speaker said in part: "Nine years ago today I stood on the deck of the U. S. transport 'Patricia.' Thronged about me on the deck, perched on the rail, hanging to the rigging and every place affording a foothold or handhold, were 15,000 men of the 144th Infantry, some 'Can-Can' companies. A calm sea with a bright sun overhead made it seem almost like the poet's painted ships on a painted sea. We were about half way between France and America, homeward bound from the Great Adventure. Of Memorial Day by the 144th Infantry.

"One event in the course of the service will remain forever in my mind. Standing in line in front of the colonel, who was presiding, were the first sergeants of each of the companies of the regiment, some of them in uniform, some in civilian clothes. They were all looking at the call of the dead. As each company was called, the first sergeant read the casualty list of the company. Then, saluting the colonel, spoke these words which were both a plea of praise and a benediction: 'They died in the service of their country, sir.'"

"What greater praise can be said of any man? We may be called on to work, or give money for public undertakings. We may write songs or poems that will stir the souls of people. We may give of our invention and discovery in the way of invention and discovery. These may all bring glory and honor and adulation. But when God has called us home, can ought be said to surpass those simple words: 'They died in the service of their country.'"

"We are gathered here today in observance of the sacred ceremony honoring all men who have served this nation in time of war and have now gone into the Great Beyond. We consider it more binding than a privilege. It is a duty we owe the nation that has not always been so. In the early days of this nation's history no public ceremonies commemorated the valor of our soldier dead. Two years after the close of the Civil war, a New York newspaper carried the item that women of Calverton, Miss., had shown a fine spirit in 'strewing flowers on graves of both Union and Confederate soldiers.' The North was thrilled and Francis Miles Finch was inspired to write his famous lyric 'The Blue and the Gray.'"

"The observance of Memorial Day is more than custom today. There are many reasons why the day is cherished. First in mind naturally is the honoring of our soldier dead. We come here to pay tribute to these men. The ranks of the blue clad figures are sadly decimated. The Spanish War veterans show large losses at the hand of the Grim Reaper, and the past decade has made inroads into the ranks of the men of the last war. We who survive grow older, grayer, become feeble and stooped. But the Legion of the Dead live on in the eternal spirit of the youth they enjoyed in the heroic days of their conquests."

"Ashe asks, dust to dust are words commonly spoken at the grave. For these here dead it is not so. Rather say 'blossoms to blossoms, laurels to the laureled,' as we strew their resting places with garlands. And significance that springs from these flowers, of awakening nature, of throbbing life, should be chosen as the time most fitting to remember, not the deaths, but the lives of these men."

"When the call to arms goes ringing through the land, it makes no distinction as to race, color or creed. A common cause makes them all brothers-in-arms. The enemy's bullet makes no distinction. Death levels all. And so we here today remember not his earthly possessions or power we pay tribute to his devotion to his country. This day should reach to mind not only the great deeds of the past as an inspiration to the present, but it should impress indelibly on our consciousness the debt we owe to these men who fought for us. War is terrible, devastating, annihilating, yet war has settled unquestionably."

TWIN CITY FOLKS GIVE FLOWERS TO THEIR HOSPITAL

Residents of Neenah and Menasha are invited to give flowers for patients confined in Theda Clark hospital to be picked up by Appleton Post-Crescent Flower Cars beginning Saturday, June 2, and every Saturday until the end of the flower season next fall.

Young Tears Up Divot Opening New Golf Course

Neenah—Missing the first "wellopp" and tearing up a huge divot, but planning the second try for a good drive Wednesday morning, Gavin Young, Sr., president of the Neenah Menasha golf club, formerly opened the new golf grounds west of Neenah.

The opening was attended by a large group of members, anxious to get started on the course which has been over a year in the constructing. Mr. Young and his two sons Gavin, Jr., and Duddell Young, and Harold Hanson, formed the first foreman.

Playing was continued throughout the day by members from the Twin Cities, Appleton and Oshkosh. Nine holes have been completed up to the present time, the remaining nine holes to be completed in the near future. The course is 9,244 yards large and is par 36. The distance for the first hole is 377 yards; the second, 427; the third, 214; fourth, 457; fifth, 373; sixth, 530; seventh, 392; eighth, 182 and the ninth, 452.

The first hole is located on a ridge nearly a mile down a rolling fairway. This is the only hole where a player will face the sun while driving. The second hole is immediately south of the first green. To get to the third tee, a player must walk through the water to the third hole, to the south-west, will afford plenty of trouble as a drive of at least 150 yards will be necessary to carry over many of our problems. In fact the destiny of this nation of ours has been worked out on the battlefield. War settled the question of American independence once and for all. "What greater praise can be said of any man? We may be called on to work, or give money for public undertakings. We may write songs or poems that will stir the souls of people. We may give of our invention and discovery in the way of invention and discovery. These may all bring glory and honor and adulation. Persons who will have flowers for the hospital are invited to leave their names and addresses at Elvers Drug Store, phone 212, if they live in Neenah, and at Frank Hoffmann's grocery, phone 212, if their residence is in Menasha. All calls must be made to those places before 8:15 on Saturday morning. It will be impossible for the Flower Cars to call for flowers if the calls are received after that hour.

DRUNKEN DRIVER HITS TOMBSTONES, PAYS FINE OF $50

Neenah—Greene of Chicago, paid a fine Wednesday afternoon to Justice Jensen of $50 and costs on a charge of operating his automobile while intoxicated. Arrest was made Tuesday night after Greene had collided with several monuments which were standing in the yard at the Monument company on Main-st.

NEENAH PEOPLE LIKE POST-CRESCENT IDEA OF FLOWERS FOR ILL

Practically Every One Approached Promises to Help Movement

Neenah—The inauguration of the "flowers for ill" hospital movement, by the Post-Crescent, is favorably looked upon as a worthy movement and is to be co-operated movement and is to be co-operated flowers for the sick rooms. Many patients who do not get flowers to cheer them up while confined there, it is reported.

The flowers will be called for each Saturday by Post-Crescent cars and all that is necessary is that people co-operate by calling Elvers' drug store any time up to 8:15 Saturday morning and notifying Mr. Elvers that a bouquet of flowers is waiting to be called for, giving the address and name.

Regarding the movement, which will start Saturday, June 2, the following Neenah people have said: Charles Korotek, supervisor and member of Sunnyview Sanatorium committee—"The Appleton Post-Crescent is to be congratulated on extending its power idea to cities of the valley outside of Appleton. It is a pleasure in commending this worthy enterprise."

Mayor George E. Sande—"Wonderful! It is a fine movement and people having flowers gardens should co-operate with the paper in putting the big idea across."

F. E. Ballister, president First National Bank—"Flowers are the greatest thing in the world to look at and the movement started by your paper is a worthy one. I hope the people will co-operate."

George Elvers, druggist—"It is a fine move and I will do all in my power to promote the idea."

J. J. Schmetzer, florist—"You can depend on me for an occasional bouquet. It is a great idea and will go a long way in making people know that flowers are the greatest joy to a person confined in a hospital."

Lynn Leffingwell, druggist—"Great thought and I will be glad to cooperate in any way possible to make it a success. Orders left at our store will be gladly handed over to the right parties."

Mrs. F. Bishop, Red Cross supervisor—"It is fine and will promote greatly the thought of giving to others."

Clarence Schultz—"It is a wonderful move and should be a great success here as Neenah's flower gardens at present never were prettier and afford great chances for wonderful bouquets to cheer the sick."

DETROIT MAN DISCUSSES MANUFACTURE OF SERUMS

Neenah—Dr. Nicole of Detroit, Mich., was the speaker Tuesday noon at the weekly meeting of the Rotary club at the Valley Inn. The talk dealt with the manufacture of serums and was illustrated with motion pictures.

They're Mine
By Edna Wallace Hopper

Many women in my audience ask whether my teeth are my own. It probably is natural to wonder whether a woman in her sixties has retained her teeth. Mine are my own and I'm careful of them. I have always been as diligent in cleaning my teeth as I have been in caring for my skin. I used to use a dentifrice, a mouth wash, a deodorant to sweeten my breath.

Now I am able to obtain all these necessary guards in a paste, called Quintessence, the five-in-one dentifrice. It has a pleasant, mild taste, is an effective cleanser and polisher and, best of all, contains milk of magnesia, which I formerly had to use separately as a mouth wash. This combats the ever present acids, which are destructive to enamel.

Experts collaborated to produce Quintessence. Now you can get it at your local toilet counter. The price is 50 cents for a large tube.

DROP NEENAH FROM AIRFLEET SCHEDULE

Unable to Arouse Interest in Reception for Legion Plane Tour

Neenah—Failing to arouse interest and failing to secure some club or society to sponsor it, the annual tour of the Cudworth American Legion post west of Appleton, which was scheduled for this city has been abandoned and instead, the ships will land at the George A. Whiting airport between Menasha and Appleton. This information was received here Wednesday morning by Col. F. J. Scheller.

The Cudworth post fleet this year will be composed of about 30 planes of all sizes and makes. It will stop in Neenah on the morning of June 12 at Whiting airport.

PRINCETON NINE LOSES FIRST TIME THIS YEAR

Neenah—The Princeton baseball team, of which Earl Haase, Fred Nixon, George Madson, William Handler and Jerry Powell of Neenah, are members, was defeated for the first time this season Wednesday afternoon by the N. Fond du Lac team by a score of 8 to 0. The game was played at N. Fond du Lac.

COUNTY CLERK SAYS MARRIAGE LICENSES SHOW BIG SLUMP

Neenah—The marriage license business in Winnebago-co is showing a slump this year, according to a report made by George Manuel, clerk. From Jan. 1 to May 29, there were but 145 applications for marriage licenses. In the first five months of 1927, there were 184 licenses issued and in the same months of 1928, there were 194 licenses issued. Nevertheless, business is showing the late spring pickup. The applications for May already number 40 with 12 applications last week and eight for the two days of the present week.

A slow increase is noted by the month. There were 20 licenses issued in January; 27 in February; 20 in March; 38 in April and 40 in May. Last year in June, there were 97 licenses issued and in June, 1926, 198 were issued. In May last year there were 51 licenses issued.

NAYLOR STRESSES OUTLAWRY OF WAR IN MEMORIAL TALK

Crowd at Lawrence Chapel
Told of Progress Being Made Towards Peace

"Whatever may be our individual opinions about war as an instrument for settling international disputes, we will agree that Memorial day cannot appropriately be used to glorify war," Dr. Wilson S. Naylor, Lawrence college, told Appleton people who gathered in Lawrence Memorial chapel Wednesday morning to pay tribute to patriotic dead.

"The day was inaugurated and has been perpetuated as an antithesis of that. It stands for the memorialization of the victims of war," the speaker continued, adding E. W. Norwood's quotation, "The atrocious peculiarity of war is that the valor of its victims is made to consecrate it."

"The birth and nurture of American liberties and institutions have been characterized by the spirit and atmosphere of peace. Our Pilgrim fathers forsook their old world heritages and created a new world, with its uncultivated wastes and inevitable hardships, for the privilege of civil peace as well as for religious liberties."

American people have little cause for apologies to the world for lack of moral or physical courage in facing war when it is forced upon them. Dr. Naylor said, recalling that in practically every instance where this country has taken up arms, our liberty or rights have been threatened. It is for that reason that the voice of America in asking peace among the nations always carries weight. America does not care to fight but can and will fight if forced to.

WORK FOR PEACE

"The tides of lofty sentiment and high purpose are moving in the affairs of our nation today," the speaker continued, "that promise to usher in a condition when Memorial day, devoted to the memory of lives lost in war, will be further consecrated to the death of war itself. Toward that end the state department of our government has for months been steadily pressing the single multilateral treaty between the six great powers of the world to renounce war altogether in the settlement of international differences."

Dr. Naylor then traced the history of American efforts to get world nations to arbitrate on their differences rather than resort to arms at a moments notice. He recalled how presidents and other statesmen in this country have called conferences to discuss the matter, how men of wealth have appropriated funds for the work and how Secretary of State Kellogg has been pushing the treaty to outlaw war after having been given the word of the French Republic that she would insure the provisions of the treaty through which Great Britain, France, Germany, Japan, Italy and the United States are trying to abolish war. Dr. Naylor further reminded his audience that the treaty does not interfere with self defense in case of actual overt aggression. "Self defense is an implicit right of nations and individuals," he said.

TREATY IS FAVORED
"Germany has already signed the treaty," Dr. Naylor said, "without reservation and with cordial commendation for the plan; France has reduced her objection to one reservation which is implicit in the treaty. England has signified the acceptability of the treaty with the same reservation suggested by France. It seems highly probable that the reservation will be pressed by either power. It is reported that Japan looks upon the treaty with favor. Even with Italy's present individualistic attitude we can scarcely think it possible that she will covet the unique isolation of declining to sign the treaty, which would amount to saying that she cherished war as no other great power."

Men who have taken part in wars have no love for war, Dr. Naylor said, in repeating the statements of General Sherman, Sir William Robertson of the British army, and Private Peat, who lectured here a few months ago. The speaker closed his address by repeating lines from one of Lord Tennyson's poems in which the great English poet presages the end to which the American department of state is working:

"For I dip into the future, far as human eye could see,
Saw the Vision of the world and all the wonder that would be;
Saw the heavens filled with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Plots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;
Heard the heavens filled with shouting, and there rain'd a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue;
Far along the world-wide whisper of the south wind rushing warm
With the standards of the peoples pluming through the thunder-storm
Till the war drum throbb'd no longer, and the battle flags were furled
In the parliament of man, the federation of the world
There the common sense of most shall hold a fretful realm in awe,
And the kindly earth shall slumber, lured in universal law."

SEEKS WARLESS WORLD
"The dream of a warless world," this speaker of 35 years before the World war became the inspiring vision of America's marching hosts in 1917 as they dedicated their lives to a war to end war according to Dr. Naylor. "We honor them most as we dedicate ourselves to the purpose for which they died—a warless world."

Mayor A. C. Rule, as president of the day, was the other speaker on the chapel program. He traced the history of Memorial day, and the custom of paying respect to the dead who died to uphold the honor of their flag and country. In concluding he thanked the patriotic organizations for their work to which he hoped the future generations would carry on.

The musical numbers on the program were presented by the boys' choir and children's chorus, under the direction of Dr. Earl Baker, supervisor of music in public schools, and a

HOLD BIG PARADE

The Memorial day parade preceding services in the chapel was probably the largest held in Appleton in many years. The first section of the parade, members of the police force on horse back, the parade marshal and his assistants also on horseback, the massed colors, the 120th Field Artillery band, members of Co. D, and the patriotic organization auxiliaries and Spanish American war veterans assembled in front of the chapel.

As they marched west on College-ave they were joined by several hundred members of the American legion marching onto the avenue from N. Duane-st. At Duane-st members of the Eagle life and drum corps and marching club and the boy and girl scouts joined the procession. When the last person in the parade was on the corner of Morrison and College-ave, the first section had left S. Appleton-st and was returning east on the avenue. The parade then was more than four blocks long.

Members of the high school band, school children and members of fraternal organizations joined the parade at the corner of S. Morrison-st and Soldiers square making the parade six blocks long when fully assembled.

ISSUE 3,726 HUNTING LICENSES LAST YEAR

A total of 3,726 hunting licenses were issued in the 1927-28 hunting season as compared with 3,161 issued in the 1926-27 season, according to a report compiled by John E. Hantschel, county clerk. In the 1927-28 season 401 trapping licenses were issued or almost 200 more than the 1926-27 season when only 212 were issued. Last year there were 9,733 trapping tags issued to those having trapping licenses while the year before only 4,273 trapping tags were issued.

Mr. Hantschel's report shows that there were 15 non-resident fishing licenses, 32 set line licenses and 197 live decoy licenses issued in the 1927-28 season as compared with 30 non-resident fishing licenses, 47 set line licenses and 213 live decoy bands issued the previous year.

The rate of return on property investment for Charles I. railroads in 1927 was 4.30 per cent while in 1926 it was 5.13 per cent.

The American Railway Association estimates that 131 pounds of fuel are required to haul 1000 tons of freight one mile.

WRITING IN VAIN

Wilhelm II, former emperor of Germany, in a recent issue of Current History takes up and wields the pen for monarchy and against democracy. He puts forward two main ideas, one that the masses of the people do not possess sound judgment in governmental matters, and the other that monarchs, trained not only for their lives but throughout generations, are the ones qualified to show the way. Fortunately we are relieved from the former favorite claim of the kaiser that monarchs ruled by divine right. He says: "The masses are an eternal child that never grows up, animated forever by childlike instincts. They require education, guidance, care, but are exploited in the name of democracy in the hands of unscrupulous seducers."

That the masses do require education, guidance and care are sometimes exploited in the name of democracy is a statement certainly containing some truth. Wilhelm's language is merely another way of expressing a thought best stated by Madame Roland when she said on her way to the guillotine: "Liberty, how many crimes are committed in thy name?"

But how can the masses cease being an eternal child and actually grow up? How can they become animated by something besides childlike instincts? Can it be done in a government based upon a fallacy and a shop-worn fallacy at that? Certain it is that people need, for their own ability to govern, education above everything else. Education aids materially in putting them in a position where they may take the better care for themselves and guide their own course of conduct. When educated they are in the least danger of being exploited at the hands of unscrupulous persons whether those persons be the demagogues that strut around in a democracy or the monarchs who do the strutting act in a monarchy. The demagogues we dress in red, the monarchs in purple, and their clothes constitute their only difference. Both are leeches though they sing a different song.

The kaiser thinks that democracy is a failure. "In two-thirds of Europe democracy has ceased to function," he says. "Even in America the grip of the central government tightens year after year. In spite of increasing government supervision in the United States I notice a constant cry for 'dictators' in the American press." Even in his enforced retirement it is obvious from this statement that the kaiser is being fed the colored sort of news usually fed to a monarch, sweetened to his taste. Where has there been any cry in America for dictators? Why should there be any such cry? The statement is utterly without foundation. And, judged from this distance, democracy in Europe not only functions but seems to get along in pretty good style.

But the kaiser is of the opinion that the people are unable to rule themselves. "In the life of every nation," says he, "there exists certain questions that thwart solution from below. These questions must be decided from above, from the viewpoint of the monarch, aided by men selected from the leaders of the various professions, men qualified to gauge the requirements and the interests of the state as a whole." It is quite essential that every government use able men to operate its affairs or suffer the natural consequences of stupid operation. This argument of the kaiser is another way of saying that a monarch is better fitted than the people to select men of ability to direct the ship of state. Sometimes it has worked out that way. Sometimes monarchy has succeeded and democracy signally failed. But of course no system of government should be judged by "sometimes."

"Real democracy," says the kaiser, "flourishes best under the rule of a monarch." Is this merely a bid by Wilhelm to a return to monarchical form of government with a monarch divested, shorn of all power? Democracy has made progress under the form of a monarchy but only where the monarchy existed as a mere matter of form. It may be true that the English people have as much liberty as we,—perhaps, as claimed by some, even more. But their government preserves the monarch mostly as a relic of the days that were. The situation that created the undoing of Germany arose from the fact that its monarch had all the power and authority vested in monarchs from ancient times, altogether too much power and authority ever to be safely placed in the hands of one man. Even conceding to the kaiser ability—which he never possessed it were still a dangerous business to permit one man to have such autocratic and fatal sway over the lives of millions. Monarchy is doomed wherever men are educated. Oceans of ink and forests of bayonets may be used in the effort to sustain it, but without avail. It may still serve a useful purpose, even in its ancient form and fashion, but only where it must be admitted that people are so untrained or so unrestrained by temperament that they need constant care and supervision.

REGULATING RADIO

The radio commission has served notice on a large number of stations that they must close down operations August 1 or show causes why they should be permitted to continue. The commission holds that they must prove themselves to be of value from the standpoint of public convenience, service or necessity. The preservation of their right to exist is up to each individual station affected by this order. The public may have its local opinion, which necessarily would be influenced by local pride or sympathy, but the commission will take a broad view of the matter and endeavor to serve the interests of the greatest number.

It is obvious to any radio listener that a considerable amount of weeding out must be done before radio service can even approximate what it should be. There is a surplus of stations of all kinds, large and small. Some of these are manifestly public nuisances rather than public servants. Their programs afford no real entertainment or are frankly a selling agency for seeds, patent medicines or what-not. Some of them operate transmitters that trespass on other wave bands and cause excessive interference. It is the commission's duty to apply an unsparring hand to stations which serve no useful public interest, particularly when consideration is taken of the fact that only a limited number can be permitted to operate to the satisfaction of the public. It is a heavy responsibility which the commission must discharge fairly, ethically and in good faith. It must not be governed by politics or permit its orders and regulations to be controlled by pull. If it licenses stations strictly on their merits, cutting out those which are admittedly superfluous, it will have the support and approval of the people.

FORGETTING DIVIDING LINES

A sixth grader could tell you that eastern and western Vermont are separated from each other by a mountain chain. Those two sections, long ago, had little common life. Roads mostly ran north and south. Crossing those hills with a wagon was not very easy. Such roads as ran through the notches or gaps in the hills were not very good. But however difficult it was to get together the two halves of the state played fair with each other. It was long an unwritten law that the Republican candidate for governor of the state should come alternately from the east and west side of the mountain chain.

That custom has now been broken, in a way that shows not only the good sense of Vermont but also suggests how times have changed. The present governor, John E. Weeks, nationally known because of his energy in meeting the flood emergency, has been renominated for governor and will be unopposed in the state primary. Vermont knows a good governor when it has one. The two sides of the state are united in spirit. As a matter of fact, they are also pretty well united physically. The automobile has brought good roads through and across the mountains. Other means of communication have helped to unite the formerly separated sections.

It is a hint of what the airplane may do to greater areas and international divisions in the future.

SO THE CHILD HAS WORMS, EH?

When Sam Slicum who breeds and sells pedigreed terriers tells me it is well to "worm" the dog at regular intervals I give perfunctory thanks and forget it. I know the dog may harbor them, but what is it? Sufficient if we recognize that the dog or cat is a potential carrier of worms and that we must take reasonable care against contamination by the pet's saliva. For the child is likely to convulse the microscopic eggs of round worms and in fact is a common mode of infestation, especially in the case of children whose hands or face the dog or cat licks or whose food becomes contaminated by the animal's saliva. When I asked the veterinary about it he just grinned, and that was enough. I believe a veterinary knows more about the causes, prevention and treatment of animal ailments than the chap who breeds or sells the animals. Likewise I believe even a baby specialist knows more about the ailments of babies than the folks who raise 'em.

Plenty of children have worms. What of it? Now and then trifling disturbances of health may be actually due to the presence of the worms, but never serious illness. For the old times, when the doctor let some tablets or lozenges to be given the child as "worm medicine" and not a word of direction about the preparatory or follow up regime. Worst of all, the child did pass some worms in the next few days as many a health child will if given cathartics of any kind. This seemed to clinch it, and the parents let the thing drift along, while grandma, rooted for a happy outcome. But when the child kept getting a little no better the parents grew anxious and finally two or three little spots appeared on the child's skin. The old doctor accurately characterized them as purpuric (hemorrhagic) spots and said they didn't mean anything. The child got no better and the old doctor kept playing him with "worm medicine," until at last the parents called in a young doctor.

The young doctor examined the child carefully and, we need not mention the indications that led him to ask permission to obtain a specimen of spinal fluid for examination. At first the parents refused, but next day gave reluctant consent. The spinal puncture brought cloudy fluid (the fluid is cloudy normally). Laboratory tests showed that the child had epidemic meningitis. So far as our object is concerned the story ends here. I hope no reader will wonder for an instant whether the meningitis could have been due to "worms." No more could diphtheria or measles. Epidemic meningitis is an infectious disease. One of the axioms that the young doctor cautions or alerts is this: Worms do not make a child gravely ill.

Parents, need we state the moral? Grandmothers, have a heart.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Handling of Fodder
We buy our cabbage, lettuce and other vegetables from the store, where of course it is exposed to the handling of every shopper and may be contaminated with germs. What can be done to free it from these germs and make it safe to eat raw? (N. H.)

Answer—Remove the outer leaves of the lettuce or cabbage. Other vegetables, as well as fruits to be eaten raw, may be washed. I think most vegetables and fruits with solid covering should be washed with soap and water, and well rinsed with water to remove any trace of soap. Apples, for instance, if these have been handled or exposed to contamination. Well managed markets do not expose such food to handling by shoppers. They expose a sample, if a customer must handle the food, and keep the salable goods under glass or at least unexposed. In addition, the supervision of the health authorities, one sees the slightest disregard of all sanitary ordinances and even of the most primitive sense of decency, in the disgusting ways such food is handled.

Earsache? Oh, Boy
Can an infection in the outer ear canal or air passage cause earache? Or can it be an infection injury the drum membrane or get beyond it? (Mrs. O. W.)

Answer—Beginning as a simple or boil, such an infection of the hair follicle or bristle is not uncommon in the outer ear canal and often it causes much greater pain than an abscess or gathering within the eardrum does. Usually the infection does not involve the eardrum or extend beyond the outer canal of the ear. The quickest relief is incision by the physician.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Thursday, June 4, 1903

Thirty-three graduates of the Ryan high school received their diplomas the previous night at the twenty-sixth annual commencement. Edna Ferber was presented with a loving cup by fellow classmates and teachers as a token of their appreciation of her work.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the First Congregational church was to meet the following Friday. Mrs. H. D. Hardacker and Mrs. W. Michelstetter and Mrs. G. C. Lipke were to appear on the program.

The Ladies of the City Relief society were to meet at the home of Mrs. E. P. Humphrey the following afternoon.

A. K. Ellis was in Milwaukee visiting that day. F. J. Harwood was a business visitor in Oshkosh that day.

The examination for city teachers was to be held at Ryan high school Tuesday and Wednesday, June 9 and 10. Sessions were to be at 9 and 2 o'clock.

Spotted muslins and knee-length skirts were the newest shirtwaists. White chip picture hats trimmed with black velvet ribbon and red roses were new.

TEN YEARS AGO
Friday, May 31, 1918

Two hundred seventy-five thousand men were to be drafted to enter June 24, it was announced that day. The call affected every state in the country.

Herbert Boettcher, 659 Richmond-st., enlisted in the yeoman branch of the navy and was to leave for the Great Lakes Naval Training station the following morning.

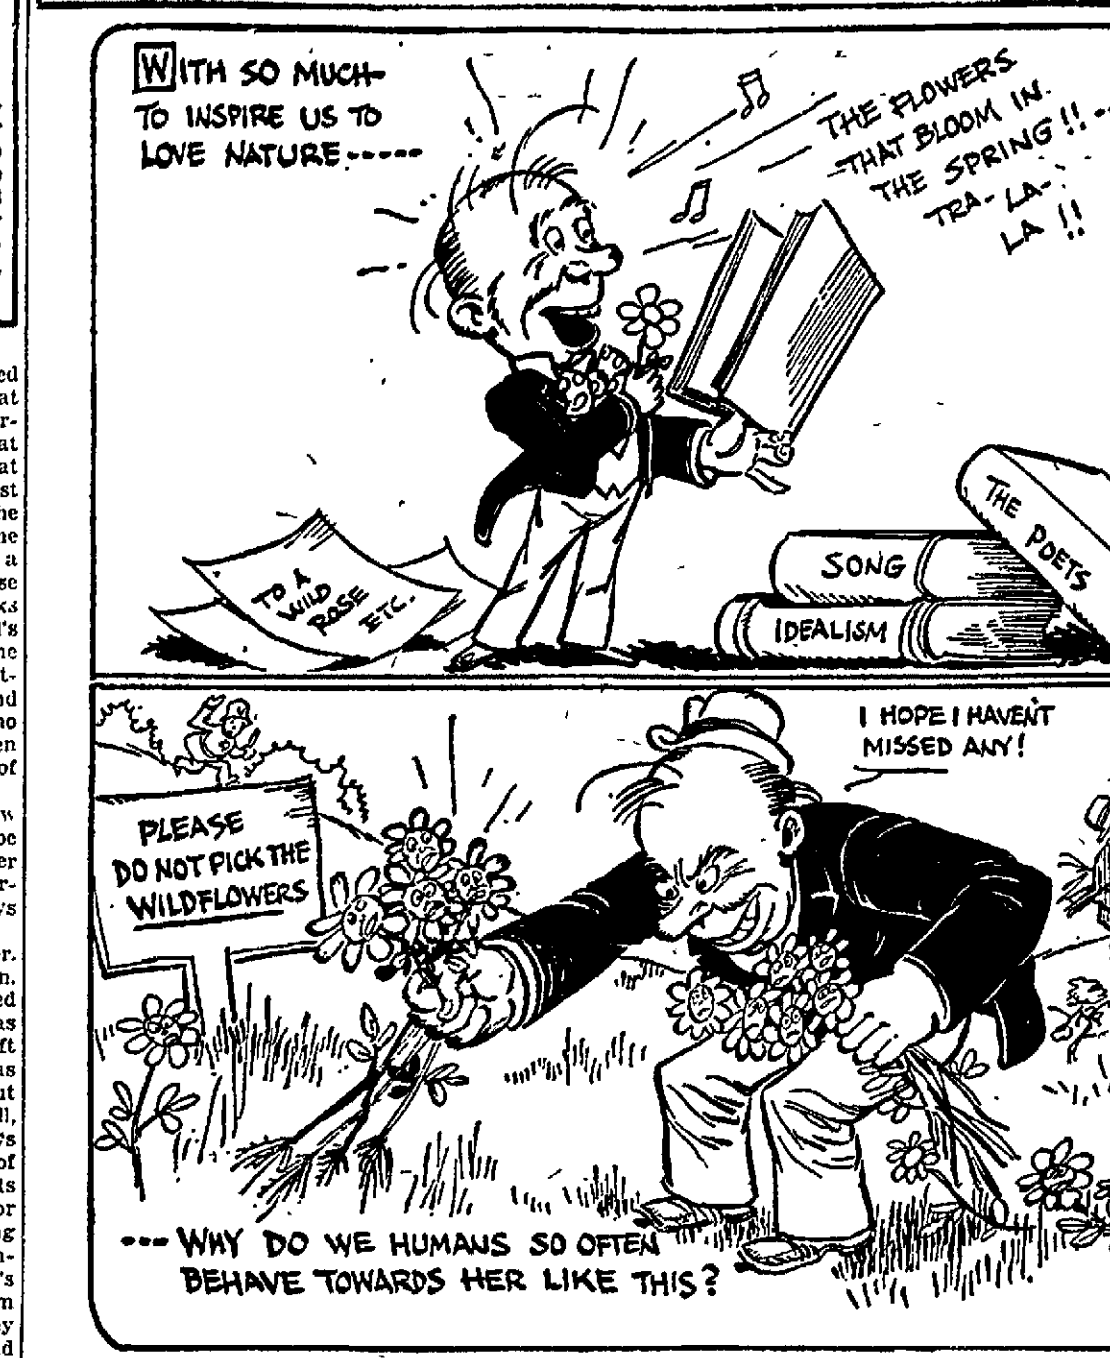

Mrs. D. J. O'Connor was appointed reporter. Her work was to visit retail merchants in each Outagamie city every week and report retail prices on commodities to C. A. Fardes, county food administrator.

Five Appleton women were elected to office in the Appleton district of the Women's Home missionary society at the Methodist church the previous Wednesday afternoon. They were Mrs. M. H. Sandborn, President; Mrs. J. G. Vaughn, vice president; Mrs. E. C. Wolter, treasurer; Mrs. C. F. Brayton, missionary secretary; Mrs. N. H. Brokaw, secretary of benevolence.

Riverview Country club was to open the following evening. Miss Estelle Re'd, Mrs. R. H. Purdy, Mrs. D. L. Kimberley, and Mrs. A. C. Gilbert were to be in charge of the program.

Westminster Abbey and St. George's Church, Windsor, are both outside the control of the bishops in whose diocese they are built.

HASKIN WRITES TODAY

HOUSING THE ARMY
BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C.—Even the Army feels the Twentieth Century urge toward individualism. Time was when the soldier's quarters from Maine to Texas were cut essentially on one pattern, just like Army costs and barracks, and the expression, "like a barracks," aptly summed up all that was monotonous and drear in architecture and interior decorating.

The person who inadvertently uses this phrase in the future is likely to be asked to qualify his statement. Like what barracks? The one at Fort Leonard Wood, Maryland, which follows the motif of Doughrehan Manor, Charles Carroll of Carrollton's House near Gillicott, City? Or, perhaps, the one at San Antonio, patterned after the famous Fort Alamo? The Army, planning its ten-year housing program which is to involve the expenditure of approximately $145,000,000 is up to its neck in drawing and blue prints, no two sets of which seem exactly alike, and it is discussing with a most knowing Army Southern and Northern Colonial modified and full Spanish styles, and divers other fine points of building design.

Army quarters of the immediate future are to be of the extravagant affairs but they are going to be up-to-date, and they are going to be built with some regard for architectural trends in the various sections of the country where they are to be located. For instance, at two-storyed of Massachusetts, the new buildings will be in the Colonial style, reminiscent of the older buildings at Harvard at Camp Humphreys, Virginia, the Southern Colonial type will prevail, with two-storyed porches, in the Georgian fashion, supported by grace columns. The Army's mission is to strike the prevailing note in Southern California. Consequently, at March Field, the new buildings will follow this motif. Singularly beautiful is the design for the new Air Corps Barracks. The building will be two-storyed, with an independent entrance and a suite of rooms consisting of a living room, dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms, and a bath. Provisions for servants are made under the same roof.

A company officer's home, under the law must cost no more than $12,500. It has the following rooms: living room, dining room, kitchen, pantry, three bedrooms, two bathrooms, a maid's room and bath, and a cellar. Homes of officers above the rank of Captain, limited in cost at $14,500 and have the same layout with the exception that there is an additional bedroom. Plans for the various buildings.

Without exception all of the letters received vetoed the General's bright idea. He learns that women, at least women of the Army, still believe in home cooking. They wanted their own homes and their own kitchens and they tabooed the central mess as being too much like a boarding-house. Also, they said, they could probably manage more economically, and in a central dining room, it also would be difficult to obtain the proper foods for children and sick people.

So the General crossed apartments off his list; this is apartments for married officers. Apartments for bachelors will be in order at different posts and will accommodate, on the average, about eight men. Each will have his own living room, bedroom, and bath, and there will be a general mess room and a reception room. The nearest approach to an apartment for married officers will be the four-family style house, to be used at some of the large posts, such as Fort Leavenworth, Riley, and Sill, where officers who are going to school are stationed for short periods, usually about nine months. In these instances each family is provided with an independent entrance and a suite of rooms consisting of a living room, dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms, and a bath. Provisions for servants are made under the same roof.

COSTS ARE LIMITED
A company officer's home, under the law must cost no more than $12,500. It has the following rooms: living room, dining room, kitchen, pantry, three bedrooms, two bathrooms, a maid's room and bath, and a cellar. Homes of officers above the rank of Captain, limited in cost at $14,500 and have the same layout with the exception that there is an additional bedroom. Plans for the various buildings.

OLD-EST LETTER EXHIBITED
The world's oldest letter was shown at the recent exhibition held in London by the British Antique Association. It is dated 500 B. C. and refers to the purchase of a field by Babylon. The writing is in cuneiform characters on fire clay and when found at Ur the epistle was in a clay envelope.

DAILY HINTS FOR HEALTH

CORRECT CHILD'S MENTAL HABITS BEFORE HE'S SIX
BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Because of the increased attention given to the care of the child in modern times numerous agencies have come into the field to advise mothers regarding fundamental problems. The University of Minnesota, in connection with its general extension division, provides a course on child care and training. The lessons taught in this course are fundamental. In agreement with many other authoritative sources, the instruction emphasizes the importance of early years in establishing a sound mind and body for the future. The period from birth to six years is in general the most plastic period of growth.

During the first five to six months of its life the normal baby doubles its weight and by the end of the year triples its weight. If it kept up the same rate of growth to the age of 10, it would weigh 135,000 pounds. It is interesting, but since no child ever keeps up at this rate it does not mean anything.

Of all of the deaths in the United States, one-third occur before the baby being six years of age, and the majority of these occur one year after birth. Ninety per cent of the cases of measles and whooping cough occur under the age of five. Sixty-nine per cent of children below the age of six have defects of the nose and throat.

The mental habits developed before six years of age are those which the child will carry through life. In this period he establishes language, thought process, and frequently mechanical skill. In this period he may be spoiled so as to respond to correction with tantrums, fits, or he may learn to adjust himself to living with other human beings in comparative comfort and calm.

CORRECTION AND CONTROL
Many parents will say of a child under six years of age that it is stubborn, shy, quarrelsome, defiant, untruthful or deceitful. All of these characteristics are subject to correction and control, particularly if given proper attention in the formative period. Of course, the child is marked to some extent by hereditary factors, but environment is of great importance and proper attention can do much to modify the growing child.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York — The spotlight's fickleness is an old theme to Broadway. Some sigh a bit at the inevitable recurrence of the story, some smile cynically, some wear troubled expressions as they wonder who time will hit next.

Certainly there is always something bobbing up to remind one of it. For instance — a couple of years ago Juanita Hansen was one of the highly touted stars of the cinema. And the other night at the opening of a Broadway play, the fate of which is uncertain, a handsome woman was required to stride across the stage a couple of times. I wondered why the audience was applauding her for so inconsiderable a stage performance. Looking at the program, I suddenly understood. For "the lady in black," as she was billed upon the program, was Juanita Hansen.

And surely no individual in the movie realm was better known than Priscilla Dean. She's still out with a vaudeville act that started from this metropolis some weeks ago. And Anita Stewart — do you remember her? — is organizing a vaudeville tour at the present moment. So is Viola Dana. Perhaps any one of them, or all of them, will resume their klieg eminence one of these days. And then again...

I recall no more distinct shock than that received last winter when, upon picking up a play program, I read "A maid played by Fritz Scheff."

Half a dozen big hotels in the Times Square belt now deliver a corkscrew to each room with the morning paper.

I am told that calls from thirsty visitors made such a demand upon the time of the bell hops that this new custom was adopted. A guest may now take it or throw it out the window.

Whereas most of the big hotels now display signs announcing that they're trying to co-operate with the government in enforcing the prohibition amendment and hence must request guests not to order ice, vichy water or gingerale for use in mixing drinks The management stipulates that it will be only too pleased to deliver any or all of these articles when the guest wishes them merely for refreshment. With the result that guests order their ice and white rock, but are careful not to inform the bellboy to what use they are to be put.

CHARIOT RUN SHOWS ANCIENT SACRIFICE

Explorers Find Evidences of Tragedy That Descended on Drivers

Chicago—(AP)—Evidences of a tragedy that descended upon the driver of a chariot and the four animals that drew his equipage 5,000 years ago were found in Mesopotamia by the Field Museum-Oxford University joint expedition to that country.

Henry Field, member of the expedition, has sent word that an almost complete four-wheeled chariot and another similar vehicle in a more fragmentary state, both some 5,000 years old, have been excavated on the site of the ancient city of Kish.

Between two of the chariots were found the skeletons of a man and four animals. The animal skeletons have been identified as those of an early species of horse. The excavators found evidence which leads them to believe the master and animals were victims of a sacrifice to ancient gods.

Between two of the animal skeletons the excavators found a shaft, terminated by a metal boss and supporting rings through which the reins had passed. Archaeologists regarded that as an important discovery for it throws a new and precise light on the means of transport in use by the Sumerians.

The findings are regarded as the most notable collection of parts of ancient vehicles. The relics will be set up in the Field Museum of Natural History here.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

We are continuing today the consideration of bidding situations both simple and complex.

TODAY'S HAND

♠-X-X
♥-A-J-X
♦-K-X
♣-X-X

Three questions concerning the above hand: score in all cases love all. How many can you answer? Make up your mind before you read the answers which follow.

1. What should South (Dealer) declare, holding the above hand?
2. What should West (Second Hand) declare with it; South having bid one No Trump?
3. What should North (Third Hand) declare with it; South having bid one No Trump and West having passed?

THE ANSWERS

1. One Spade or one No Trump. This hand contains two suit declarations; it has three suits stopped and more than average strength, also ample strength for a four-card Spade bid. The argument against No Trump is the menace of the worthless doubleton; the argument against the Spade is that bidding a four-card Major is always attended with danger because the partner may assist with a three-card suit. The writer's choice in this case is one South's No Trump. Major is headed by A-K-10 and the Club doubleton is absolutely defenseless.

2. Double. Yesterday a hand was given with sufficient strength for South to bid No Trump but not for West to double. South's No Trump and today a hand is given, strong enough for a double by West but better as an initial suit bid than a No Trump. This may appear contradictory but really it is not. Yesterday's hand had just the qualification for an initial No Trump but lacked the more exacting essentials needed to double a No Trump; today's hand has the strength either to bid or double a No Trump, but it is a safer initial suit bid than it is an initial No Trump.

3. Pass. This hand is strong enough to jump partner's No Trump to two; but the jump is not advisable because the hand has a secondary Major suit declaration in the event of a lead directing bid by East. A bid of two Spades over South's one No Trump would not be wise, because the partner would interpret it as a bid from a five-card suit. If North pass, East bid, and South and West pass, North on the second round could bid two Spades and thus show South a strong four card Major. North's Major in such case would be marked as a four-carder because, with greater length, he would have bid on the first round.

Here is another interesting bidding hand:

Smoker For Bride and He Gets Shower

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEW YORK — Speaking of sex equality... and who isn't?...

A dozen male friends go together to surprise "George." One called up and said he was dropping around...

While "George" welcomed his guests and presents in his apartment, "Alice" was giving her farewell back-slap party in her Greenwich Village studio.

The girls held one of those typically "modern chatter-fests." They talked of why and how moderns are superior to the oldsters...

"It may even be that 'George' will turn out domestic and keep house while I paint," the "Alice" of the "smoker" said, nonchalantly.

So far as it is known there have been no "Gentlemen's Home Jour-nals" started for domestic men.

"I have had no urge to give 'George' a diamond. In fact I couldn't afford it," "Alice" countered belligerently.

Log Cabin Is Reminder Of Old Settlers

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

ARE we taking the right way to preserve history? Our historical societies are doing all in their power to commemorate important places by erecting monuments and tablets to great men and great deeds.

But history has not been made entirely by soldiers and presidents. I come from a pioneer country with pioneer traditions that tell of as much high courage, endurance and iron will on the part of the men and women who left civilization behind them for the terrors of the wilderness as have ever been recorded of all the explorers and warriors in the history books.

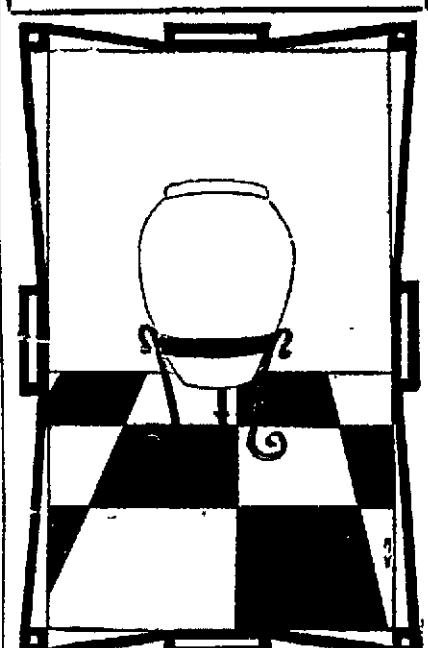

Scattered over many of the states are a few remnants of the old log cabins that they built—tiny, crude houses, falling to decay, the dwelling places of pioneer men and women who were the real pathfinders of a new nation.

We pass here and there on a day's ride. Each year they are fewer, the logs fallen and rotted, the mud plaster disintegrating and mingling with the earth on which it lies.

Historical societies cannot do it all. Cannot the various states help to preserve their cabins? It is not enough to put a tablet up to their memory. The cabins themselves should be saved.

Cities are full of statues and monuments of men who build highways, bridges, and public parks. Yet off in the quiet corners of the earth, these silent monuments of the bravest people the country has ever known, are allowed to pass away.

BREAKFAST — Orange juice, cereal, cream, baked omelet, oven toast milk coffee.

LUNCHEON — Open toasted sandwiches, radishes, strawberries, vanilla cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER — Planked calf's liver, new cabbage and beet salad, snow pudding, milk, coffee.

The planked dish includes potatoes and stuffed peppers or tomatoes, so extra vegetables are not suggested.

The open sandwiches in the luncheon menu suggest an excellent way to use up left-over meats. In this instance the mutton from the preceding dinner is used.

OPEN TOASTED SANDWICHES. One cup finely chopped meat, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 small onion, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 2 or 3 table-spoons milk, 4 rounds of toast, 4 slices tomatoes, 4 teaspoons minced parsley.

Carefully remove every bit of skin, bone or gristle from meat before chopping. Melt butter in frying pan, add onion finely minced and cook until a golden straw color. Add curry powder and cook and stir over the fire for three minutes. Add meat and milk and simmer over a slow fire while toasting the bread. Brush over each slice of tomato with melted butter and broil on both sides. Put a slice of broiled tomato on each round of toast and pile the meat mixture on the tomatoes. Put into a hot oven to heat thoroughly and sprinkle with parsley. Serve at once.

Fish or chicken is good when used this way.

Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in his private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Improved Kotex

Delightfully Soft—Unbelievably Comfortable

Regular price was 65c, NOW 45c—buy it now at any dealer's

THE vast majority of women doctors and nurses would tell you, if you asked them, to employ Kotex.

For they say that too much emphasis cannot be placed on the sanitary pad one uses.

Now Kotex—supreme in the features that have brought to women a new hygiene, with attendant peace-of-mind—has been improved.

Improving Kotex we were careful to make no changes in the features women already liked. There is the same high absorbent surface. The same instant disposability. The same deodorizing. The same simplicity in making your purchase.

But after experimenting two years, we have perfected a new shape for Kotex. One not only more comfortable but which prevents awkward bulkiness to mar smooth fashionable lines.

And we have perfected a fleecy softness never known before, ending all chance of irritation—of chafing or binding.

Now, the greatly increased sale of the Kotex with these two great improvements has made it possible permanently to reduce the regular price considerably.

Now buy the Improved Kotex, at the new low price at any drug store, department or dry goods store. Get it today.

APARTMENT PROBLEM BELIEVED SOLVED BY REVISED ZONING LAW

Council, Plan Commission Will Decide Propriety of Building in Residence District

Whether apartment houses can be built in residential districts of Appleton will rest with the city council and the plan commission. If the action of the revised zoning ordinance, just prepared by L. Hugo Keller, city reviser of ordinances, is adopted at the next meeting of the city council Wednesday, June 6.

The new section provides that when someone is desirous of erecting an apartment house in a residential section under the zoning law, he submit to the council detailed plans of the building and also the distance it will be from other buildings in the same block. The plans will be referred to the city planning commission for recommendation, and a public hearing will be called on the date of the next council meeting.

At that time the plan commission recommendation will be made public and all persons in favor of or opposed to erection of the proposed building will be given a chance to express their views. The council then will be required to act upon the question with a three-fourth vote necessary to grant or deny the request.

The proposed change in the zoning law was brought about a few weeks ago when a petition was presented to the council asking that the property at 114 S. Durkee-st be placed in the commercial and light manufacturing district so an apartment house might be built there. The city plan commission recommended that the request be denied because the entire half block in a commercial district would jeopardize the value of all other property in the block. Several aldermen then started to cast about for a solution to the problem and the new section of the revised zoning law is the first step taken.

"THEIR HOUR"

The initial showing of the Tiffany Stahl production of "Their Hour" at the Elite theatre today and Friday proves to the movie fan that pictures can be made that give to them a solid hour of keen enjoyment. This picture is a splendid offering depicting a subject that has a universal appeal—that of the hectic, pleasure-loving life of the modern boy and girl, their outlook on life, and their carelessness of the prescribed conventional code.

It tells of one of those smart youths, who starts at the bottom of the ladder as a shipping clerk in a shirt factory. His peppy way soon attracts the attention of the boss stenographer and he rushes her to an engagement to be married. Happy in their love they are at a family dinner where the girl's rich cousin and her father are guests. The rich girl, always getting what she wants, sets out to get her cousin's sweetheart whether she succeeds or not and her methods used in attempting are the highlights of this more than interesting picture.

In the cast portraying the principal roles are such well known screen players as Dorothy Sebastian, John Harron, June Marlowe, John Roche, Huntley Gordon, Holmes Herbert, Myrtle Stedman and John Stepping. The picture was splendidly directed by Al Raboch.

Formal Opening OF THE NEW NIGHTINGALE BALLROOM

Just North of Kaukauna, on Highway 41

Sun., June 3rd

This Modern Ballroom has been designed and erected for the pleasure and convenience of all dance lovers, and is pronounced by all who have seen the interior, to be one of the most neatly arranged and modern dance halls in the Fox River Valley. There has been nothing left undone. The manager who owned and managed Ridge Point so successfully for 3 years past saw the need of a more convenient location and set out to erect this beautiful amusement center for his increasing patronage. The building is located just north of Kaukauna, on U. S. Highway 41, which makes it easy to reach by people from all the valley cities. It will take the place of Ridge Point which has been disbanded.

"THE FIFTY-FIFTY GIRL" WINS MORE LAUGH HONORS FOR POPULAR SCREEN COMEDienne

Give Bebe Daniels half a chance and the movie picture comedienne will wrench a chuckle out of the worst of the pessimists. The Paramount star wrenched a good many out of the audience that attended the first local showing of her latest picture, "The Fifty-Fifty Girl" at Fischers Appleton theatre this afternoon and the wrenching process was far from being painful. The laughs came easily and in a flood.

The story is typically Bebe Daniels, who is never better than in a story wherein the beautiful American girl just cannot keep herself out of a jam. "The Fifty-Fifty Girl" deals with such a girl, one who is firm in the belief that she can make a man look silly under any set of circumstances.

Along comes James Hall, her leading man, and in the story, her partner in a mining venture, who accepts her proposal to take the part of the woman if she will run things like a man. She goes ahead and gets into the most amusing circumstances, at least as far as the audience is concerned. Bebe as the boss and cocky James Hall as the demure girl do make real comedy situations.

The strain is too great for the headstrong Miss Daniels, however, when she is chased by a gang of cut throats in the dark tunnels of the mine and, after saving her bride on countless occasions, she finally squeals for help. Thanks to the strong right arm of Hall, the day is saved. And Bebe admits that the man really is some good after all. Incidentally the cast is exceptional.

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNSHUNDREDS TURN OUT
WEDNESDAY TO HONOR
KAUKAUNA WAR DEADVeterans Unite in Paying Tribute to Men Who Died in Country's Service

Kaukauna—Hundreds of people turned out to help honor the soldier and sailor dead of the war. Services for the day were in charge of A. General committee from the American Legion, the legion auxiliary and the Kaukauna Women's Relief Corps, under the chairmanship of Gerard Brenzel.

At 8:30 in the morning a firing squad of American Legion men, a trumpeter, two color bearers and two color guards and members of all three organizations motored to the cemetery of the city where short services were held for those who died in the military service. James Hamilton and John D. Lawe, two of the surviving three members of the Grand Army of the Republic accompanied the group. About 10 o'clock the group returned to the Kaukauna hall where it was met by the Kaukauna Moose band and two troops of boy scouts in charge of Leslie Ramsley. The Wisconsin-ave. bridge, where short services were held for the sailor dead and then to Monument park where the final services were held. Lieut. Ernest Sasmowski was in charge of the Legion men and Lieut. Omar K. Graef was drum major of the band.

BAYS INVADE KAW
BALL PARK SUNDAY

Smithmen Look for Stiff Battle from Down River City Squad

Kaukauna—Kaukauna meets Green Bay in a Fox River Valley league baseball game at the Kaukauna ball park on Sunday afternoon. The Kaws are resting in second place at the present time, but one game behind the pace setting Kimberly outfit and the only team the Electricies have lost to thus far this season. Last Sunday the leaders dropped to Green Bay 4 to 3 in an exciting rally after the Bays had led 3 to 0 through most of the game.

Ratchell pitched most of the game but was relieved by Lewellyn. Both men can turn in creditable performance when given good support and are bound to cause trouble for the Kaws. Last Sunday the Bays chalked up five errors to help Kimberly win. Ratchell struck out 8 and Lewellyn 1, during the short time the latter was on the mound.

According to the last sitting average released by the valley league, four Kaukauna men are seeking the hall at a .300 clip or better. Les Smith, valley home run king, is in sixth place with an average of .500. Crainer has .333, Gertz has .300 and Sager has .300. This quartet will lead the attack against the Bays. A win for Kaukauna and a loss for Kimberly Sunday will put the two teams in a tie for first place.

PIGEONS RACE 400
MILES NEXT SUNDAY

Kaukauna—Members of the Kaukauna Pigeon club will ship approximately 150 birds to Storm Lake, Ia. on Thursday evening for Sunday's race from that city. It will be the club's four hundred mile race. Last Sunday's race from Britt, Ia. was the first one in which a great number of birds were lost. Storms were blamed for the failure of many birds to return to their lofts.

ADVANCEMENT CLUB TO

AMERICANS PURCHASE
GERMAN TOY SOLDIERS

Lepzig, Germany—(AP)—American children have evidently regained their taste for toy soldiers and toy battle scenes, for these have been largely bought by American department stores at the Leipzig Fair. The usual run of lead or tin soldiers is not so popular. It is a fairly large size model made of a new unbreakable composition that is all the rage.

In Germany there is no great demand for tin soldiers nowadays, and their places are taken by model football and hockey teams.

PAGE JAWN M'GRAW! A JEWISH BATTERY

Oregon University Frosh Stars Played Four Years in High School

Eugene, Ore.—With all this fuss going on over Jewish ball players in the major leagues, it might be a good idea for a few big league scouts to drift to this neck of the woods and look over the Jewish battery working for the University of Oregon freshman team.

After playing together on the same high school team for four years, Pitcher Dave Bloom and Catcher Morris Sussman stepped right out this spring and won regular jobs with the frosh outfit.

Sussman is the best catcher on the team and shows promise of getting better all the time.

Bloom is a right-handed pitcher and showed his stuff early by pitching the Oregon frosh to a 10-2 victory in the initial game of the year.

These young men want diplomas from the Oregon school, but it takes only three more years for that and then perhaps they will listen to the call of the majors—and gold.

Nice News for McGraw—Jake Levy, the Jewish pitcher farmed out to Hartford in the Eastern League by the New York Giants, won his first five starts.

Clatskanie, Tenn.—(AP)—Young Stribling technically knocked out Johnny Urban, Pittsburg (4).

Tijuana, Mex.—Dirt Collis Mexico, knocked out Walcott Langford, Chicago (7).

Olympic Rowing Trials Great Eight-Oared Battle

New York—(AP)—The Olympic rowing trials on the Schuylkill river held forth the prospect of the greatest eight-oared naval battle conducted in some time.

For the first time in years, neither New London nor Poughkeepsie will furnish the rowing climax. This year the two big college regattas along the Thames and Hudson will be preliminary to the main sea-faring engagement July 6 and 7 at Philadelphia.

As a matter of fact, the American eight-oared supremacy is as marked in the Olympics this year as it has been in the last two international regattas through the efforts of the Naval academy and Yale oarsmen, the Olympic championship actually will be decided on the Schuylkill river.

Seven and possibly eight of the best American college varsity eights will engage in the tryouts at Philadelphia, along with the rest of the club crews. But the club veterans, benefited as they may be by experience, have small chance to take the main honors away from one or another of the well-trained, ambitious college eights, the products of such skillful mentors as young or old Dick Glenn, Ed Leander and Ed Brown.

The University regatta as well as the Harvard-Yale duel at New London involve as close and exciting prospects as any in recent years.

The Washington-Navy combination, after holding sway for six years, was broken up last June by the Columbian from Little Old New York. The American sailors dropped back to fourth in that race and they haven't shown much in competition this year.

Eastern critics already have established Columbia as a favorite to repeat with the chief opposition again likely to be furnished by Washington and California. Pennsylvania and Cornell both have shown marked improvement. Both will at least put up much stronger bids than they have in several years but Syracuse is well below the usual Orange standard.

YANK WINNER

GEORGE PIPPAS

George Pippas has been the most consistent winner for the Yankees so far and also set the pace for American League hitters with no defeats in his first seven starts. The big right hand pitcher from Minnesota is in rare form this season and proved more than equal to the task of sharing the champions' main pitching burden with Herb Pennock when Wiley Moore developed a sore arm and Waite Hoyt fell sick.

SEVERAL STAR MEN AT MIDWEST MEET

Monmouth Has Two Sure Winners Including Illinois Relay Champ

Monmouth counts on two men for sure points in the Midwest field and track meet which is to be held in Ingalls field in Ripon Friday and Saturday. The outstanding one of these is Jack McIntosh, who won the Illinois relay all-around championship this year. He tied for first place in the jump event at the Notre Dame relays at 6 feet 4 1/2 inches. McIntosh is tied for the state high jump record at present, but will doubtless set a new mark here at Ripon.

Alex Thom, captain of the Monmouth team has been going well in the dashes this season. He won three sprint events over Cornell in a dual meet at Mt. Vernon, Ia., May 1. Thom is expected to show his heels to other Midwest sprinters at the Ripon meet.

KNOX MEN STRONG
"Buss" Manny, this year's captain of Knox college track team, is expected for the broad jump, the javelin and the discus events of the Ripon Midwest meet. He is particularly strong in the jump, having been a member of the Knox team for three years and this event is his favorite one. Another Knox man who may cut in on some points is Red Scharub, quarter miler of four years' experience. He was leader of the squad last season and took the Midwest meet quarter in record breaking time. He is also a member of the mile relay team. Other superior performers on the Knox team are Pool, high jumper, Henry Taylor as sprint man and Crawford who throws the discus.

Frank Moulton, captain of the Hamline team, has been high point man in the meets in which the St. Paul squad has participated this year. In a recent dual meet with MacLester college, Moulton made a leap of 21 feet 2 1/2 inches in the broad jump, also won points in the dashes and the high jump.

Gerald Larson is Hamline's hope in the dashes at the games Saturday. His best time for the century this year was 10.1 seconds. He is looked for to be out in front in the century by the Hamline fans.

Other members of the Hamline team who have made creditable performances this spring are Carlisch, high and low hurdler; Henry Lewis, half miler; and Wentworth, who enters the same event. Lackey is a shot man with considerable experience while Truesdell is the best man on the team in the discus event.

BADGER TENNIS MEN WIN BIG TEN TITLE

George LaBorde, Former Lawrence Star, on Champ Team

Chicago—The University of Wisconsin tennis team Wednesday afternoon handed the University of Chicago netters a sound trouncing, defeating them, 6 to 1 in a conference match that consisted of five singles and two doubles contests. The victory clinched the Big Ten title for Wisconsin.

Wisconsin lost only one of the singles combats. Bob McMillan, of Oshkosh, Wisconsin No. 1 man, whipped Ed Budd of Chicago, 6-2, 6-2. This result was something of a surprise as Budd defeated McMillan in straight sets last week at the conference tournament in Lafayette.

Singles
LaBorde (Wisconsin) defeated Nelson (Chicago), 6-1, 6-2.
Baldern (Wisconsin) defeated Hichert (Chicago), 6-2, 6-2.
McKlejohn (Wisconsin) defeated Lesser (Chicago), 6-1, 6-2.
McMillan (Wisconsin) defeated Budd (Chicago), 6-2, 6-2.

Doubles
McMillan and LaBorde (Wisconsin) defeated Calahan and Nelson (Chicago), 6-1, 6-2.
Frederick and Baldern (Wisconsin) defeated Budd and Lesser (Chicago), 6-2, 6-1.

ORANGE GRIDDERS HAVE STRONG CARD FOR 1929 SEASON

Ancient Foes, Oshkosh, Manitowoc, Marinette, West Green Bay Play Here

OCT. 6—APPLETON AT FOND DU LAC.

OCT. 13—W. GREEN BAY AT APPLETON.

OCT. 20—APPLETON AT SHEBOYGAN.

OCT. 27—OSHKOSH AT APPLETON.

NOV. 3—MANITOWOC AT APPLETON.

NOV. 10—APPLETON AT KAUKAUNA.

NOV. 17—APPLETON AT GREEN BAY.

NOV. 24—MARINETTE AT APPLETON.

One of the best home schedules ever arranged for an Appleton high school football team, as far as the class of competition is concerned, is carded for the 1929 Orange eleven, captained by George Popp. The schedule as mapped out last week by conference officials gives Appleton four home games and three away from home and every home battle is with an ancient rival which is certain next year to have plenty to say about deciding the conference title. Two of the teams, Manitowoc and Marinette, ancient Orange rivals have not played here for several years to boot.

The Orangemen open with Fond du Lac at the Fountain city on Oct. 6 and the following week sees one of the best games of the year at Appleton for the first home dish. That ancient rival, West Green Bay, a team which has been a contender for the league banner the last two years, comes here. Two years ago Appleton spoiled the Baymen's clear claim to a title by a tie game which should have been an Orange win and last year lost at the Bay 12-0 after a 0-0 first half. Two years ago Purple tied for the Valley title and last year it finished alone on top.

The Orange has its best chance to conquer the Bays next year with Herby missing as well as several other stars.

Then Appleton plays at Sheboygan and another great game is assured, which plays the Orange to a tie last year, holds the next week. Then comes Manitowoc for the second successive home games of great importance. Appleton has squeezed out last-minute wins over the Ships for the last two years by one point or one touchdown, even though last year the local team was clasped as much stronger. The Ships have not visited the local gridiron for some years. Then comes two away from home games. Kaukauna and East Green Bay, the latter the big favorite for the Valley title next year. It may be that the Appleton-East game at the Bay may have an important bearing on the final champion.

MARINETTE ENDS YEAR
The season ends Nov. 24 when Marinette comes here for a battle, the first time in four years. Last year the Northerners were set to come here but more advantageous conditions caused a shift in the game. Appleton lost 12-0 with Swede Johnson on the bench, whereas with him in the lineup a local victory would have been almost assured. With the Marinette game closing the local schedule and here for the first time in a few years it would draw one of the largest crowds of the year.

Officials for the season were chosen, and they included two Appleton men, A. C. Denny, director of athletics at Lawrence college and Werner Witte of Roosevelt high school. George Burnside of Neenah also is on the list. The complete schedule:

Sept. 29—Manitowoc at West High; Sheboygan at Fond du Lac; Sturgeon Bay at East.

Oct. 6—Menominee at West High; Oshkosh at Sheboygan; Marinette at Manitowoc; Appleton at Fond du Lac; Wayland academy at East.

Oct. 13—West at Appleton; Sheboygan at Marinette; Manitowoc at Oshkosh; Fond du Lac at East.

Oct. 20—Bellevue at West High; Appleton at Sheboygan; Marinette at Fond du Lac; East High at Manitowoc.

Oct. 27—Marinette at East; Fond du Lac at Manitowoc; Oshkosh at Appleton.

Nov. 3—West High at Marinette; East at Sheboygan; Manitowoc at Appleton; Fond du Lac at Oshkosh.

Nov. 10—Sheboygan at West; East at Oshkosh; Appleton at Kaukauna; Menominee at Marinette.

Nov. 17—West High at Fond du Lac; Sheboygan at Manitowoc; Oshkosh at Marinette; Appleton at East.

Nov. 24—Marinette at Appleton.

Nov. 29—West at East (Thanksgiving Day).

Staging a great rally in the sixth inning and another in the final frame, the Tuttle Press Co. softball team just managed to squeeze out a 7-6 victory over the much-improved Pettibone-Petabody Co. crew Tuesday in an American Softball League game and as a result climbed into a triple tie for second place with the W-M Power Co. and Appleton Machine Co. teams. Pettibone lead until the sixth when the Press rallied behind the count 5-5 and then the Pressmen added two in the last frame while holding the rivals to only one. The losers showed a decided improvement in hitting.

The star for the winners and hammer and Steens played the best games for the losers. Batteries were Pelling and Hag for Pettibone and Backovsky and Ziegler for Tuttle Press.

Appleton Valley Squad Whips Athletic Rivals In Close Battle, 5-2

Son Tornow Homers With Man on Base in Sixth to Cinch Hard-fought Game

A homerun by Son Tornow, star second sacker of the Appleton Fox River Valley League baseball team, clinched a ball game Wednesday between the Leaguers and the Appleton Athletics, billed as a city championship battle. The Athletics, one of the strongest teams in the Intercounty League, lost 5 to the Leaguers, 5-2, in the grudge game, one of the best played at Brandt park this year.

Neither team scored in the first frame but in the second the Athletics surprised the fans by taking the lead with two runs. In the opener the Leaguers loaded the sacks but the Athletics gulped, pulled out without a run being scored. The Leaguers scored once in the third and then took a 3-2 lead on two runs in the fifth through poor fielding by the Athletics. The game was halted temporarily for rain in the sixth and when it was resumed the winners took a 5-2 lead on Son Tornow's fourthly swat with a man on base. Neither team scored in the seventh, eighth or ninth.

Sternagle replaced Booth after Tornow's homerun in the sixth and fanned seven of the nine men to face him in the last three frames. Most of the men he whiffed were teammates of the 1927 Valley loop team.

Reflex fanned only a few batsmen and was hit hard but he tightened in the pinches and outside of the second when the losers got their two runs was almost invincible with runs on the sacks. The two runs for the winners in the fifth came on bunched fielding by the losers, an infield fly dropping safe while two infielders and an outfielder halted under it, waiting for one of the others to take the catch. WEATHER POSTPONES LOUGHNAN-LATZO GO

New York—(AP)—New York weather has no favorites among boxing promoters. Tex Rickard was forced into numerous postponements in his first attempt of the season to stage a championship fight outdoors by rain, and now his Metropolitan rival Vulmatz has suffered the same fate. As a result of a downpour the light heavyweight championship bout between Tommy Loughnan and Pete Latzo, originally scheduled Wednesday night, will take place Friday, weather permitting.

BERNHARDT SPECIALS WALLOP THIRD WARD

The Bernhardt Specials took a one-sided game from the Third ward softball team Tuesday, winning by a score of 24 to 1. Homeruns by Ray Tornow, Demand and Radtke of the winners, featured the game. Demand hurled stellar ball for the winners and

GEORGE HILL STARRING IN MILWAUKEE MATCHES

A sensational victory by George Hill, former star wrestler of Appleton and vicinity, over Ernest Scharpegge, a leading title contender, last week at the Gayety theatre, Milwaukee, has won for Hill a place on Friday's Gayety card.

No opponent has as yet been selected for Hill, who made a great showing in polishing off the big German in a two out of three falls match.

Wayne (Big) Munn, who has agreed to throw Fritz Von Mier twice in half an hour, is expected in Milwaukee Thursday.

BREWERS DROP TO THIRD PLACE TIE

Lose Two Games to Kaws to Fall to Two-game Margin from Top

Chicago—(AP)—Kansas City was the sole tenant residing in the American Association's most aristocratic clubhouse Thursday and it held a two-game lease.

The dispute over the league leader, ship between Kansas City, Milwaukee and St. Paul was settled temporarily, at least, Wednesday when the Blues defeated Milwaukee in both ends of the holiday doubleheader, while St. Paul split its twin bill with Minneapolis.

Friday, Kansas City was two games in front of its closest rival, Indianapolis, while Milwaukee and St. Paul were tied for third and fourth places. The Blues were the only ones in the circuit to take two games Wednesday.

Indianapolis came from behind with a three run rally in the eighth inning to take the opener from Louisville, 4 to 2, but in the nightcap were unable to solve Wilkinson's curves, succumbing 8 to 3.

Minneapolis also played an uphill battle to win the morning game from St. Paul, 9 to 7. With the Saints leading 7 to 3, the Millers rallied in their half of the ninth innings, pushing over six runs for victory. In the second, St. Paul scored in every inning except the first, taking the decision, 15 to 4.

Toledo defeated Columbus, 4 to 2, in the first game, but the second was called because of rain in the fourth inning.

Kranzsch caught, Friday evening the Specials play the Wisconsin Telephone Co. team of the American League.

Nearly one-third of the revenues of American motion picture distributors now come from abroad.

BURNS' JOB

All during the winter months the Cleveland Indians were angling for a classy first baseman to have around in case George Burns slipped a bit, and they had one on the club all the time in Lou Fonseca, the only Portuguese in the majors. Fonseca has been playing at Burns' job for several weeks now and it looks like he is going to have it the rest of the season.

OLD BREW BACKSTOP GOES TO COLONELS

Landis Scores Milwaukee Club for "Under Cover" Diamond Trade

Chicago—(AP)—Baseball Commissioner Keneath Mountain Landis has shaken his big stick at "under cover" trades and sales of baseball players.

Condemning the sale of Catcher Ray Thompson by the Milwaukee club of the American Association to the St. Louis Browns, who planned to release him on option to the Tulsa club of the Western league, Commissioner Landis ordered Thompson to report to Louisville of the American Association and warned all organized club owners that future "cover up" trades, or sales would be punished by a $500 fine and surrender of the involved player's contract to the protesting club.

Early in the present season, Milwaukee asked for waivers on Thompson. Louisville requested his services, but Milwaukee offered him for only one season, Commissioner Landis said in a long review of evidence. Louisville refused. Then the Browns bought him from Milwaukee for the regulation $3,000 waiver price after the Tulsa club complained it was in great need for a catcher. Commissioner Landis said the sale was given the aspect of a promotion to the majors when in reality it was only a move from the American Association to the Western League, thus depriving Louisville of the waiver right.

DETROIT cleaned up two games on the faltering Indians, the afternoon engagement in twelve innings. The scores were 4 to 3 and 6 to 5.

The Browns won both ends of an afternoon double-header from the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 1 and 5 to 2. The veteran Red Faber pitched a good game in the opener, but lost to Ogden.

"The Blindfold test convinced me OLD GOLD did not even have a runner-up," says MILTON SILLS

"It's like deciding a beauty contest in the dark", I said when they told me about the blindfold cigarette test. But the experiment convinced me. The beauty of a cigarette is all inside, and I didn't have to see the label to know that Old Gold didn't even have a runner-up. I picked it out readily from the other brands as the smoothest and best cigarette. Now it's always Old Gold with me.

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

SMOOTHER AND BETTER—NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

MR. SILLS made the blindfold test just after some strenuous work in the First National Studio at Hollywood. He smoked the four leading brands and promptly chose OLD GOLD.

Heart-Leaves... are the heart of the matter!

HEART-LEAVES are the answer to Old Gold's superiority, the reason for their honey-like smoothness, and for the fact that there is "not a cough in a carload." Only the golden-ripe heart-leaves of the tobacco plant are used in this better cigarette. The heavy, coarse top leaves that irritate the throat, the withered ground leaves that coarsen the taste are never used. That is why you can pick Old Golds even in the dark.

LOCAL LIONS READY WITH PROGRAM FOR STATE MEET HERE

Convention Opens June 4
With Registration at Conway Hotel

The 1928 Lions club convention here June 4 and 5, will open with the registration of Lions and their ladies at 9 o'clock Monday morning at the Conway hotel. Registration will continue until 1 o'clock Monday afternoon.

At 11 o'clock the convention will assemble at Pythian Castle hall, and it is expected that delegates and visitors will be registered by that time. The convention is to be called to order by the newly elected president, W. H. Palatich, followed by the group singing, "America." Dr. E. L. Baker, of Lawrence Conservatory of Music will direct the singing and LaVahn Matesch will be the accompanist.

The invocation will be offered by the Rev. J. A. Holmes, followed by the address of welcome by Mayor A. C. Rule. Greetings are to be extended by F. N. Belanger, general chairman of the district convention. The response to the greeting will be given by C. F. Hartman of Superior, after which district governor Giles Putnam will assume charge. E. E. Cahall is to present delegates after which Dr. E. L. Baker will lead in singing convention songs.

The afternoon program will be opened with the convention re-assembling at Pythian Castle, where the meeting is to be opened with songs led by Dr. Baker. Committees will be appointed at 2:15 and general announcements are to be made. Remarks will be offered by District Governor Giles Putnam followed by convention business.

At 3:35 in the afternoon another singing session is to be held followed by an address of Joseph R. Adams, district governor of Illinois. W. LeRoy Hooper, district governor of Michigan, will give an address at 3:55 after which the group will again be led in songs.

Divisional meetings are to be conducted by governors, presidents, secretaries, tall twisters, and song leaders, at 4:20 at Pythian Castle hall. At 6:45 Monday evening, the convention banquet will be served at Rainbow Gardens with the Rev. M. S. Webber, deputy district governor, presiding. Following the dinner, Mark Catlin will address the group on the "Wolf River" after which the Lawrence Glee club will sing general selections. The final address of the first day sessions is to be presented by Dr. Henry Merritt Wriston, president of Lawrence college, at 8 o'clock following the evening's entertainment at Rainbow Gardens.

The convention will re-assemble at 9:30 Tuesday morning at the Pythian Castle hall where the meeting is to be opened with convention songs. Committee reports will be given at 9:40, followed by more singing. Nominations for district governor will follow at 10:20. At 11 o'clock the resolutions committee will report, followed by an address by O. W. Smith, better known as "Outdoor Smith."

A stag luncheon with Giles Putnam in charge will be held at the Elks club. The convention will assemble at 2 o'clock at the Castle hall for the afternoon program. At 2:30 the city to have the 1928 convention is to be selected, followed by the selection of district governor.

At 3:45, an auto tour is to be conducted through Appleton and surrounding territory. At 6:30 in the evening the final banquet and ball is to be held at Rainbow Gardens with former district governor, John Baker, presiding. The final address is to be given by Judge Marcus A. Kavanaugh, Chicago. The evening's entertainment will consist of a band concert by Gib Horst's orchestra.

Lionesses will open their part of the convention with a musicale and tea-studio party at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Lawrence Conservatory

MANY SCHOOL TEACHERS TAKE EXTENSION COURSES

Madison—(P)—More than a fifth of all persons enrolled in the extension courses offered by the University of Wisconsin are public school teachers, the current issue of the Wisconsin Journal of Education reveals. More than one-eighth of Wisconsin's public school teachers are taking these university subjects.

PLATTERS DON'T FEAR LATEST HEALTH LAWS

Claim Their Lands Are Sanitary and Do Not Constitute a Health Hazard

Recently enacted legislation regarding sanitation in plats for summer development that border lakes and streams hardly effects local real estate dealers, the dealers say, giving two reasons why the new law does not apply in cases found here.

The real estate men claim that there is little if any development of land in this section that could cause a health hazard and also state that lots bordering lakes or streams in this vicinity have natural drainage. The new law attempts to prevent inefficient and improper platting which might endanger health owing to the congestion of dwellings on small lots, unsafe waste disposal and water supply and the danger of lake pollution. Swampy and other low areas will not receive approval, it is declared, unless it is shown that the necessary filling will be made and that the platting is financially responsible for the sanitary improvement.

All subdivisions recorded since Aug. 5, 1927, must have the approval of the state board of health to make them legal.

At 6:45 they will adjourn to Rainbow Gardens for the opening banquet.

At 12 o'clock Tuesday noon a luncheon will be served in the Crystal room of the Conway hotel, followed by bridge. At 3:45 the ladies will join with the men for the auto tour, and at 6:30 in the evening will attend the banquet and ball at Rainbow Gardens.

Well Dressed Eye Has Four Pairs Of Glasses

The well dressed eye now needs four pairs of eye glasses, reasons Dr. Frank Wallace, president of the Illinois Society of Optometrists. His reasoning, however, is far fetched, according to local eye specialists who declare that two, and no more, pairs of glasses will take care of most every need.

According to Dr. Wallace, the problem is, of course, to make one nose support four pairs of glasses where only one rested before. The answer, as given by Dr. Wallace, is to expand individual ownership to include a pair of nose glasses for business, a rimless style for formal wear, tortoise shell for library use, and a tinted pair for golf.

The local conclusion is that if you must wear glasses on formal occasions, wear your business ones and if you actually need tinted glasses for golf, you are generally too far gone to think about golf and had better be thinking about your will instead.

Time was when a single pair of glasses was all that any one would need under any and all circumstances.

STATE ENGAGED IN BIG PROGRAM OF BUILDING

Madison—(P)—The state has been engaged in construction of new buildings at many of its educational, charitable, and penal institutions, during the first part of the year, according to progress report of C. A. Halbert, state chief engineer.

At the University in Madison, work has been done on a chemistry building addition. Memorial Union and Tripp Commons, plans have been drawn for a mechanical engineering building and for remodeling the tank house.

Plans are under way for a new heating station at the Oshkosh teachers college, for a dairy barn at Plattville teachers college, and a training school at Stevens Point teachers college.

Institutions under the board of control at which building work has been in progress are: northern Wisconsin colony and training school at Chippewa Falls; Wisconsin Memorial Hospital at Farwell's Point; state hospital for the insane at Stevens Point; Wisconsin colony and training school at Union Grove; state sanatorium at Wailes; state prison at Waupun, and northern hospital for the insane at Winnebago.

A dormitory for girls on the state fair park, West Allis, is to be ready for occupancy at the opening of the state fair. Plans and specifications have been drawn by the state architect.

The automobile which recently traveled 206 miles per hour in Florida used approximately half of its 1000 horsepower to combat wind friction.

The total amount of electrical power produced in the United States for 1927 was nearly 50 billion kilowatt hours.

Now Its Curled Locks For Appleton Shieks

Although the average Appleton man has resorted to the common sense style of haircut, local tonsorialists are still having their troubles with a few of the more particular of feminine type males.

The barbers claim there is always something to contend with which takes the joy out of the trade to a certain extent, and now certain mates of the species are having their hair curled. "I like to cut the hair of a curly head," one barber stated when interviewed, "but I don't like to contend with a bunch of wool which has been artificially curled, stays curled about two days and then looks as though it has been finished off with a sheepshears."

"About the time the sideburn was popular in the movies, we had young men running in about two to three times a week to get their sideburns, some of which hung down to their jawbone, trimmed," another barber explained. Within the past two years the sideburn has been discarded, and only a few rare cases still exist.

Some young men are more particular and easier dissatisfied than a woman after the hair is cut. But on the average, the women are still the most fastidious. A man gets a trim and that is the end of it, but when a woman gets a cut, she is open to inspection the minute she leaves the shop, and that is when the career of the barber is at stake, local barbers claim.

LONDON POLICE GIVEN STONE CONNING TOWER

London, England—(P)—A granite conning tower, impenetrable to attack, has been built at one corner of Trafalgar Square for the use of police to observe crowds who hold indignation meetings and demonstrations in that public place. The occupant of the tower will be in telephonic communication with Scotland Yard so that extra police can be summoned immediately if conditions warrant. Powerful are lamps at the top of the tower illuminating the whole square at night.

Fifth to the police have been able only to use a small telephone booth for communication with headquarters, and being on a level with the crowds have not been able to overlook the whole square.

REPORT SHOWS LOCAL "Y" HAS SERVED MANY PEOPLE DURING YEAR

Dormitories Used by 28,000
Men and More Than 53,000
Meals Were Served

A survey taken at the end of the activities year at the local Y. M. C. A. on May 1 has revealed the extent of expansion and development of the local association in comparison to last year.

According to reports compiled by F. J. Harwood, president, 1351 members were accounted for up to May 1. Of this number 858 were men and 465 were boys. The membership in the 29 industrial plants was 422 men. During the year, there were 1500 supervised events among the industrial workers. In the grade, high, and vocational schools, there were 465 members. Twenty-eight boys groups, such as the Pioneers, H-T, and groups among the employed boys, functioned.

During the year, 114 men and boys were given employment; 8,000 games were bowled on the association alleys; 3,000 games of billiards were played; 53 beds in the dormitories were used by approximately 28,000 men, and 53,000 meals were served in the cafeteria. Exactly 550 boys and men used the physical education department in 886 class sessions; 14,243 attended the classes; 888 classes were held in the swimming pool with an attendance of 18,325; 105 were taught to swim; 255 games of basketball, volleyball, baseball, and handball were played with 1,822 participants; 56 men participated in tennis, and the swimming pool was reserved for women and girls under the direction of the Appleton woman's club every Wednesday.

In events outside the Y. M. C. A., 800 individuals served in extension work; 27 teams were organized in the leagues; and 352 people participated in the various events.

During the year, 43 socials, entertainments, and lectures were conducted; 34 magazines and newspapers were placed in the boys' and men's reading rooms; 18 lectures were presented for boys, with an attendance of 700; 113 boys were entered in educational clubs; 30 men took active part in public speaking classes conducted with the cooperation of the chamber of commerce, with a total of 303 hours in classes; 18 bible classes were held for boys with 244 students; 15 Sunday religious meetings for boys were held with an attendance of 630.

FACTS ABOUT WISCONSIN

Sheboygan serves as a striking example of the influence of a single industry upon the trend of growth and development of a city. In 1850, when the entire population of Sheboygan County numbered 8,370, Sheboygan was little more than a village located on a good harbor. Shipping, trading and fishing were its primary enterprises. A fine stand of hardwood and pine surrounded the city. From this the community came to be known as the "Evergreen City," and the adequate local supply of timber right at its door explains the early establishment of wood-working enterprises there. In 1858 there were two steam sawmills, sixteen water-power sawmills, five wagon shops, three ship yards and a planing and siding mill in Sheboygan. In 1869 the first furniture factory was established and others soon followed to utilize the local supply of lumber in the manufacture of chairs. Soon Sheboygan came to be known as the "Chair City," though today its twenty furniture plants manufacture practically everything in the wooden and fibre furniture line for household use. During a period of sixty years furniture manufacturing has remained its basic industry while Sheboygan has grown to number about 40,000 people who all depend in some measure upon the furniture industry for their livelihood. Time has seen the local lumber supply exhausted. Time has watched the cargoes of lumber landed at Sheboygan harbor diminish, with the year 1919 marking the end of this source of supply. The passing of time—and of forests—has now compelled Sheboygan furniture manufacturers to look to forests in the far south for their raw materials.

EXPECT 500 WOMEN AT ACHIEVEMENT DAY PROGRAM, JUNE 21

Rural Clubs to Hold Annual Meeting at Eagles' Hall,
Appleton

More than 500 women from the rural communities of Outagamie-co will attend the annual county achievement day at Eagles' club in Appleton, on June 21.

Plans for achievement day are being completed by Miss Edna L. Huffman, nutrition specialist from the home economics department of the Wisconsin University Extension division, and R. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent.

Although the women who will take part in the achievement day program are members of women's clubs that have been organized during the past two years, all women are invited to the meeting, Miss Huffman said. Miss Huffman has been working with the women of Outagamie-co for the past two years.

There are five central districts in the county, Appleton, Kaukauna, Bear Creek, Medina and Nichols, where Miss Jones meets with members of the clubs from the vicinity once each five weeks.

Miss Huffman estimated there are 24 clubs in the county with about 500 members.

At the central meetings Miss Huffman gives instructions in preparing food and on health. The women who attend the central meetings then return to their local clubs and act as teachers for the women who did not attend the central meeting.

At the district meetings the mornings are given over to the preparation of the noon meal. The ladies do this work under the direction of Miss Huffman. After dinner the ladies discuss health matters and preparations of foods and other problems.

Features at the county achievement day meeting on June 21 according to Miss Huffman, will be an address by Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones, state leader of home economics of the Wisconsin University Extension division; stunts presented by each of the five district groups.

Inquirers Ask Haskin Of Beetles And Employment

The question of employment in South America, the relationship of a lady bug to a beetle, why former president Taft should spend his vacations in Canada and the origin of the name of Opechee, as applied to a local street, are contained in requests sent Theodore J. Haskin, the Post-Crescent's information bureau at Washington, recently.

The only calls for men to go to Latin America received by the Pan American Union have been for highly trained men in such fields as banking, cotton and fruit growing and road building. Mr. Haskin, recently informed a local man.

Mr. Haskin pointed out that skilled labor receives higher wages in the United States than in any other country and that there is little occasion for the average workman to seek more favorable opportunities elsewhere.

An inquiry from Green Bay regarding former president Taft's sojourns in Canada brings out the fact that he is in the same position as any other national officer during his vacation, and is entitled to take a trip to any foreign country he wishes.

The relation of a lady bug to a beetle was asked by an Appleton reader and Mr. Haskin replied that they are related and that they do much good for fruit growers in America. He also sent a bulletin giving more information on the subject.

A man living on Apechee streets wants to know the correct spelling and meaning of the name of the street and for once Mr. Haskin did not have a ready answer. The matter was taken up at once, however, and information will be sent the enquirer.

FIREMEN MAY FIGHT BLAZES ELSEWHERE

Committee Grants Permission to Go Wherever They Can Be of Assistance

Another move on the part of larger cities to protect property in rural districts from fire was taken by the city of Appleton a few days ago when the city council fire and water committee instructed the fire department to send a truck anywhere it believes it can be of assistance. Heretofore a call from outside the city limits was referred to the mayor for an opinion. Now the department can go on the word of chief or whoever is in charge at that time.

"The move is just a step further than the one started early in the spring after the Zuehke fire to co-operate with cities and villages around here in case of a big fire," Mark Catlin, chairman of the committee said. "Following the Zuehke fire, when many departments around here came to our aid, the chiefs in valley cities got together and agreed to help each other in case of large fires. Now we're going another step further and have instructed the local department to go wherever they think they can render assistance."

TO SELL RADIATORS AND EQUIPMENT AT AUCTION

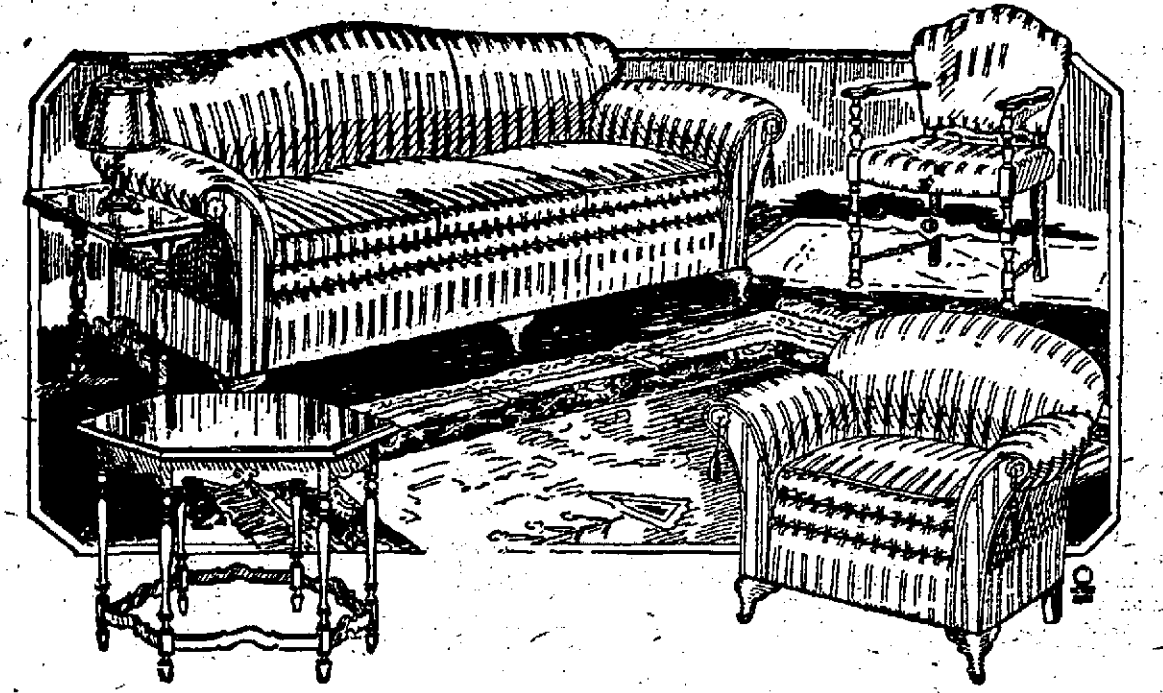

Several automobile radiators and a quantity of radiator repair equipment and other articles will be sold on June 12 at public auction by Sheriff Otto Zuehke to satisfy an execution against the property. The execution was granted in court last week and Charles M. Hume owned the property.

WEEDS CAUSE BIG LOSS TO WISCONSIN AGRICULTURISTS

MAJORITY OF THEM CAUSED BY BAD SEED, FARM BULLETIN SAYS

Believes Farmer Could Lower Losses if They Paid More Attention to Crops

Madison—(P)—Weeds often cause losses running up to 10 or 15 per cent on Wisconsin farms, the Farm Bureau Messenger, official organ of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation says.

"If the real damage done by weeds was appreciated, greater efforts would be made by Wisconsin farmers to 'do away with' this month's issue of the magazine declares.

The farm organization believes that weed infestation resulting from unclean seed is one of the maximum sources of this loss, and warns farmers to use all care and precautions against the seeds which may bring weeds with the crop.

Among the most serious losses caused by weeds are the loss of water and plant food which should be available to the crops; dockage of grains due to lower gradings; destruction of the proper quality and size in cultivated crops; because weeds have grown faster and shaded or smothered out the crops.

Farmers seldom notice summaries of tests showing how much damage is done by weeds, so they seldom realize the amount of damage, the farm magazine states. On the other hand, most farmers do their best to fight weeds on their cultivated land, the article says, but if their efforts are wrongly directed, or ill advised, the loss continues. The article urges a study of weed control, so that the farmer may be better equipped to cut down on weed crops.

"Average losses for the following crops in the United States have been reported as: Corn 10 per cent, spring grains 12 to 15 per cent, winter grains 7 per cent and pasture 20 to 25 per cent. For the state and nation, the losses run into millions of dollars each year.

4-H CLUB LEADERS HOLD A CONVENTION

Each One Is Given a Stock Question So All Can Take Part in Discussion

BY W. E. WINSEY
Sturgeon Bay—At a meeting of 45 4-H club leaders held in the court house Saturday afternoon, Varney, of the 4-H club department, college of agriculture, lead an informal discussion of the problems, and duties of club leaders.

To direct the discussion, Mr. Varney assigned one of a number of questions that club leaders usually ask collected at similar meetings throughout the state, to each club member at the meeting. When a leader was called on for a question, he was asked to answer it himself, if he could not answer it himself, a call for volunteers was made. In this way, the entire field of questions was thrashed out and each one present took a hand in the work. This method is founded on the fact that questions in all clubs are identical and that by assigning one of the stock questions to each member, no question could be overlooked and the leader, assigned a question has a chance to answer it and to take part in the meeting.

Each 4-H club member in Door county who has selected reforestation for his project, will get 300 pine tree seedlings direct from the Trout Lake Nursery, Vilas co. This week and will immediately do his planting on a plot unit for agriculture, under the direction of S. E. Torrey, Ellsworth, or Thomas Phinney, route 4, Sturgeon Bay. For this purpose, Mr. Torrey has received 36,000 seedlings and Mr. Phinney, 600. Reforestation by 4-H club members is a new project in this part of the state. It is usually conducted through the public schools.

BERRY GROWERS MEET AT SPARTA ON JUNE 9

Sparta—(P)—Growers of Wisconsin's $1,000,000 strawberry and raspberry crop will discuss their problems at Sparta on June 9.

The meeting is being arranged by the State Horticultural Society co-operating with the county agent L. E. Kuenning of Monroe county and the Sparta Fruit Growers' association. Mr. A. W. Pommeroy, of the State Bureau of Markets will demonstrate the grading of strawberries under the new law. The others speaking are N. A. Rasmussen, Oshkosh; Frank Korn, Appleton; Rex Eberdt, Warrens; E. L. Chambers, State Entomologist; and H. J. Rahm, low, Secretary of the State Horticultural Society. J. E. Leverich, president of the society, will be chairman of the meeting.

In the afternoon, County Agent L. E. Kuenning will conduct a tour to some of the larger fields of strawberries and raspberries where insects, diseases, varieties and cultural methods will be discussed.

A strawberry shortcake dinner has been arranged.

Growers from most of the important strawberry sections of the state are expected.

BLACK CREEK FARMER IS A REAL PIONEER

FRED DREPHAL STILL LIKES TO CLEAR UP LANDS ON HIS FARM

Black Creek Farmer Has Not Forgotten When That Word Was Necessary

BY W. E. WINSEY

Black Creek—Even now, I enjoy cutting an burning brush, and clearing fields and ditching for drainage purposes," said Fred Drephal, route 1, Black Creek, who has endured the hardships of the early pioneers and made a prosperous farm of a wilderness of slashings and brush. He marked the success and profit of the early lumbermen in the town of Cicero, Outagamie co.

Mr. Drephal used to raise and fatten from 15 to 20 hogs yearly and feed them entirely on grain raised on his farm. There was his chief farm industry before the World war. Later he discarded hogs and gradually worked into dairying with a herd of Holstein grades. He is now changing from black and white cattle to purebred Brown Swiss cattle. He now has 26 head in his herd, including 16 milkers. The product of his herd finds its way to the Chicago market.

In his township and in Outagamie co., Mr. Drephal is one of the pioneers in the use of commercial fertilizer. Giving corn and potatoes such a vigorous start in the spring, this kind of crops and advanced the time of harvest from one to two weeks, according to Mr. Drephal, in backward seasons, in which corn is caught with frosts, commercial fertilizer, used, saves the crop.

In fields where Mr. Drephal used fertilizer on his corn, the effect is noticeable the following year in the grain which is from one to two feet taller where the rows of corn stood than elsewhere. The same thing is true of the following crop of clover or alfalfa. In testing the value of commercial fertilizer on crops, Mr. Drephal skipped several rows in his corn field each year. The corn in these rows was invariably two to three feet shorter than the corn in the fertilized rows. As a result of these experiments, Mr. Drephal says that he would not try to raise corn or potatoes without commercial fertilizer.

It is noticeable that his farming activity is a sideline to his farming activity. Mr. Drephal manufactured lime and has taken time out of his busy life for building purposes for 22 years. With these products, he supplied farmers and village residents from markets he had established in New London, Bear Creek, Pulaski, Seymour, Shiloh, and Angelica, to build their residences and farm buildings. It was an arduous task but Mr. Drephal used to work throughout the winters quarrying limestone. To furnish fuel for his lime kilns, he employed a large crew of Indians all winter in the swamp cutting miles north of his farm, several wood.

Mr. Drephal was so handicapped in

STRAWBERRIES GROW WELL IN WISCONSIN

Madison—(P)—Praises are sung for the strawberry, most important small fruit grown in Wisconsin.

Whether served as the breakfast table, or upon the popular shortcake, or mounted atop a dish of ice cream in sundae form, it places Wisconsin's citizens.

The state college of agriculture accounts in part for its popularity as a crop by saying it is easy to cultivate. The time between planting and fruiting is short, it is comparatively free from pests, and is adaptable to varying conditions.

The berry may be grown for home use in all parts of the state. However, for commercial purposes, the crop is largely confined to areas reasonably near large markets, but in a few sections it is produced strictly for wholesale markets.

keeping in touch with freight stations during the first years of his quarrying operations, that he built the first telephone line connecting Drephal and Black Creek. This line was afterward taken over by E. R. Baerman, the Shiloh-Black Creek telephone owner and manager. "I made considerable money in the limestone business, but it was exceedingly hard work," said Mr. Drephal.

For the past ten years Mr. Drephal has been chairman of the town of Cicero and for three terms a member of his school district board. He has also acted as treasurer of the Drephal Livestock Shipping Association for nine years. He is a director of the State Bank of Nichols.

Fred Drephal was born in the town of Greenville in 1878 on a farm where his father, Fred, worked, as a member of a family of nine children. He was four years of age when his father died. He attended the common school in a wilderness of slashings, the older Drephal cleared a small space and put up a small log cabin that cost him $5 in cash. The money went for a door and a couple of windows. He used cow hails. He roofed the cabin with hollow logwood logs, split and laid as the rafters. Fred worked with his father until he reached the age of 22 years, cutting brush, burning logs and brush and sawing shingle bolts in the winter.

Mr. Drephal received his education in a district school. He bought his farm in 1898 from Benjamin Nightengale, Fond du Lac, and since that time has cleared the land and erected all his farm buildings. In 1900 he married Mary Noack and started at once keeping house. The couple have three children, Mrs. Edward Weishoff, Appleton, Lawrence at home, and Viola, attending high school in Appleton.

Mr. Drephal's brothers and sisters are Henry, William, Pauline, August, Bertha, Emma, Annie and Mary.

THOUSANDS VISIT CHERRY ORCHARDS

View from Air Shows Regularity With Which Trees Have Been Planted

BY W. E. WINSEY

Sturgeon Bay—Nine thousand six hundred people arriving in two thousand and five hundred automobiles, several busses and a train visited the cherry orchards of Door co. Sunday, and although they found about sixty per cent of the cherry blossoms out and only a very few of the apple blossoms, they saw orchard and landscape beauty in combination without rival in this country. At one time one thousand cars blocked the highway near the airport, constructed by the Reynolds Preserving company, during the past ten days on land of the company.

According to H. M. Ulsgerson, manager of the Door County Fruit Growers' Union, the cherry orchard visitors this season outnumbered those of last year and cars this year were in evidence from all over the country. As not only all the cherry trees but the apple trees as well will be in full bloom, a much larger crowd was there on decoration day than on Sunday.

In preparation for handling the crowds and enabling each visitor to see all the large orchards, the Door County Fruit Growers' Union lined out routes No. 1 and No. 2, and placed placards along each route. The Reynolds Preserving Company served cherry pie to all visitors during the day. Two airplanes from Appleton gave visitors a bird's view of the orchards from the clouds. A woman who saw the sights from above said that she was struck with the regularity of the lines of the orchards, the beauty and harmony of the color, the change of gale scenery and the rapid change of landscape. A tree in blossom looked from the heights like a flower she might hold in her hand and an orchard like a large bouquet.

WISCONSIN-FACING SHORTAGE OF SWINE

Market Is Bound to Be High This Fall, Specialist Says After Trip

Madison—(P)—A large number of Wisconsin farmers have marketed their brood sows during the winter and early spring, and the source of the 1928 pork crop is markedly depleted. J. M. Fargo, swine specialist at the state agricultural college, has found on a state field trip.

In addition, it was his observation that an overly large number of the breeding stock population was in an unhealthy condition, many of them having attained only about two-thirds of their proper size.

Reports from other states of the corn belt indicate much the same condition, so that the effect on the price of hogs this coming fall is evident. With such a general depletion in the spring pig crop at this season, it is natural to expect that the price of pork will soar with the approach of fall. Based on general conditions in Wisconsin, and upon the prevalence of similar conditions in other states, Mr. Fargo urges bader swine feeders and breeders to exert every effort toward finishing off all the good pigs possible this year.

MANY FARMERS ARE NOW KEEPING BOOKS

Sturgeon Bay—(P)—More than 700 Door county farmers are convinced that farming is a business, and should be treated as such. Aided by B. F. Rusy, Door county agricultural agent, they have been keeping accurate accounts of their farming business during the last year. The schools of the country have cooperated to promote the farm record book, by offering agricultural credit to children in the upper grades who successfully complete this project.

TOBACCO FARMERS DISCUSS PROBLEMS AT DISTRICT MEET

Gather at Newry Thursday Night and Other Places on Later Dates

Newry—(P)—Tobacco farmers of this section were planning to gather here Thursday night for an added tobacco pool and other interests. This meeting is an extra one, in statistics already having been held in other parts of Vernon co. The program, however, is similar to those in all the institutes.

Five more of the meetings, probably the last of the series this spring, will be held in northern tobacco growing counties. E. D. Luther, who has charge of the institutes said here today.

Dates for these meetings are: Monday, June 4, at Colfax, Dunn co.; Tuesday, June 5, at Pigeon Falls, Trempealeau co.; Wednesday, June 6, at Melvin, Monroe co.; Thursday, June 7, at Portland, Vilas co.; Friday, June 8, at West Salem, Lincoln co.; Saturday, June 9, at LaCrosse, LaCrosse co.

Growers in the Northern tobacco counties are more scattered than in the growing districts, Mr. Luther said, "but in locating these institutes we have tried to make them accessible to the greatest possible number of growers."

Tobacco institutes in Rock, Dane, Grant, Richland, Crawford and Vernon counties have had most satisfactory results," Mr. Luther said. "Attendance has been very good, on the whole, despite the fact that farmers are busy at this time of the year. It would seem to prove of benefit to them."

The census of those gathered here for the meeting applied to all tobacco districts of the state appeared to be that tobacco enjoys a favorable position in Wisconsin at present, although many areas could well receive a lot more rain.

The Northern Wisconsin Co-operative Pool bulletin, received here today stated that tobacco plants generally look good and give promise of considerable amount of transplanting by June 10.

"In a few instances there has been some trouble from plants dying but from just what causes, the growers do not seem to know," the bulletin said. These cases, and those in which growth has not reached the point, however, where the plants will go into the cane stage and lay down leaves, are few, the bulletin said.

MEASURES THICKNESS OF TOBACCO LEAVES

Madison—(P)—The tobacco division of the state agricultural college's experimental station has a machine for measuring the thickness of a tobacco leaf.

The machine will register thickness down to one thousandth of an inch. It is thought that there may be some relation between this thickness of the leaf and "burn" of the tobacco. It hasn't yet reached the point, however, where the leaves will go into the cane stage and lay down leaves, but it is a machine for measuring the thickness of a tobacco leaf.

TREATED POTATOES FREE OF DISEASE

Tests Also Show That They Produce Larger Yields, County Agent Says

BY W. E. WINSEY

Sturgeon Bay—According to J. W. Bran, potato specialist of the college of agriculture, the state record for the hot formaldehyde treatment of seed potatoes in one week was made by B. P. Rusy, county agent, last week, when 2,369 bushels were treated in Door co.

The demonstrations took place at Fairland, Vignes, Ellison Bay, Sturgeon Bay town, Liberty Grove and West Jacksonport. Other demonstrations will be held this week at Sevastopol, Forestville, and Washington Island.

In most cases, the demonstrations were held at a cheese factory where a supply of steam and water was available but at Sturgeon Bay town and Sevastopol they were held near steam rollers which rendered very efficient service, according to Mr. Rusy.

In each case, the potato growers brought their seed potatoes to the place of treatment in sacks or crates in lots ranging from five to one hundred twenty-five bushels.

The hot formaldehyde treatment consists of immersing the seed two and one-half minutes in a solution of water and formaldehyde, heated to 122 degrees. The stock solution is made up of one pint of formaldehyde to fifteen gallons of water. The treatment controls scab, black scurf and partially, black rot.

The redeeming features of the hot formaldehyde treatments are the speed, low cost and effectiveness according to Mr. Rusy. The time has been given above, the cost is three cents a bushel, and the result is an increased yield and clean product.

Last season, black scurf and scab did so much damage to the local potato crops that Rusy made a county-wide proposition of potato seed treatment this spring to control these diseases.

The Story of Cattle

When we read of maddened bulls goring men to death, we can begin to imagine something of the nature of the contest when the first misty-minded savages, ages ago, began the conquest of the earth's mammals with hoofs. How early, unknown men mastered the elephant, the camel, the horse, the dog, the pig and cattle is an untold chapter.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26.

Going naked into the wilds with his dog, early man captured the parents of man's future herds and brought to his family food, leather and milk.

The cow is worshiped as a sacred animal in India; all civilization owes it gratitude as the foundation of human progress.

The capture of cattle was one of the early foundations of the law of property. Men formed pastures for their cattle to feed on. No longer did the illness of a mother involve the death of her baby. Milk from the cow took the place of nourishment which the stricken parent was unable to furnish. (To Be Continued)

WAUPACA JUDGE PAYS TRIBUTE TO VETERANS IN NEW LONDON TALK

Cause of Righteousness Sets Example for Rest of World, Martin Declares

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—There would be no republic today were it not for the spirit of George Washington, the man who led his countrymen in a cause founded upon righteousness and not for conquest. This was the statement of Judge W. H. Martin, Waupaca, in his Memorial address at the Grand Theatre here Wednesday morning.

Other republics have died and died away because of the lack of a righteous cause for which to contend. "America is the hope of the world in its sound foundation of wholesome beliefs. So long as righteousness prevails, so long as the ideals of our heroes transcend our actions in time of peace and war, so long will our nation continue to be the light of the world."

Judge Martin paid the beautiful tribute to the men in blue who gave all so that their flag might not lose, who fought in the swamps and the lullies of the south with the sky for a banner and love of homes and liberty in their hearts. His message to the veterans of the Spanish-American war, expressed his regret that out of the many who left New London, only six remain to recall to our minds the cause for which they fought. "And because of them," he stated, "we can picture the island for whose freedom they fought today smiling beneath the flag of freedom. Because of those boys in blue, homes and ideals in that far away land blossom in liberty."

"For our boys in khaki we have a different feeling," the speaker said, "we remember the days when we sent them away, giving them our highest tributes, our finest promises. Have we kept those promises? I hope we have. Let us not forget that many a lad laid under the moon and stars of a foreign land, with his spirit high even while his blood mingled with the soil of that country for which he fought."

"Do not forget the buddies which fill our hospitals today. Ask for no pension for yourselves so long as you are able to meet life. Remember these buddies and help the government to stay steady for the lives which they gave—these poor, shattered boys who fought for the country which is founded upon righteousness."

The speaker made a plea for the homes, stating his belief that the American home is breaking. He paid tribute to American men, and concluded with a plea that we do all that we can to create extraordinary men to conduct the affairs of an extraordinary age.

BIG TURNOUT FOR MEMORIAL SERVICE

Executive Committee at New London Well Satisfied With Day's Programs

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Perhaps not in a great many years has the Memorial day observances of Wednesday met with such wholesome cooperation from the citizens and of both the city and the surrounding community. This is the statement of heads of the executive committees on arrangements.

Dr. Robert Fitzgerald stated on Wednesday evening that the feeling of solemnity together with a helpful kindness was splendid from everyone. Cars were offered, school children and faculty members gave a loyal support, organization heads worked splendidly and there was no interruption in the double program which included an open air program at Memorial park, in which school children participated, and another at the Grand theatre, at which adults and organizations were represented.

There were no accidents throughout the program, when streets were congested with motor cars and school children. This, Dr. Fitzgerald, stated was due to the cooperation of motor and police officers, who patrolled the streets. The music for the day was contributed by the Legion Drum and Band, the city band and the Municipal band. Both bands and the Legion band transferred company, together with many individuals, are to be commended upon their helpfulness in conveying the crowd to the cemeteries.

Especially beautiful was the ceremony on the water front, where members of the legion band and Legion buglers sounded the touching requiem to the heroes of the sea. Little Joyce Prahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Prahl, threw the wreath in memoriam, just as taps were sounded. Buglers were Edward Krangle and Stanley Christian. Women of the Red Cross supervised the decoration of about 177 graves here and in outlying cemeteries. Legionnaires cared for graves of the dead of the World war.

HOLD DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL CLASS

STAGE OLD PLAYS IN ROMAN AFRICA

Cartage, Tunisia—(AP)—Old plays are to be presented in the old Roman here where once the power of the Caesars was supreme.
A company headed by stars from the Comedie Francaise in Paris has been formed by the "Friends of Cartage," a society interested in reproduction of the atmosphere of the Roman days and in studying the history of Roman Africa.

Mr. Calef, in his speech, reminded his audience of their patriotism in time of the late war, when soldiers who fought then were pledged support in ending war. That every citizen owes a part of the keeping of that pledge was pointed out by Mr. Calef. "Acquaint yourselves with the manner of men whom you choose to represent our nation," the speaker said.

CLASS OF 38 SENIORS GRADUATE TUESDAY AT CLINTONVILLE SCHOOL

English Professor from University of Wisconsin Gives Address

Clintonville—A class of 38 seniors of the Clintonville high school received diplomas at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening.

The invocation was given by the Rev. A. A. Bennett, and was followed by a vocal solo "Is the Best of What-ever you are," sung by Helen Taff Hanson.

Principal F. D. Wartimbee introduced Professor Foster, of the English department at the University of Wisconsin, who delivered the "Commencement Address."

He said "Two things of especial significance impresses one who travels over the United States—the number of churches and the prominence of the school houses." He referred to the effort that we are putting into education that no country in the world is doing what we are in education, then he added "Remember that our democracy is not much more than a hundred years old and is still in the experimental stage. Every democracy which has existed so far, has failed." None of these, he said had tried the system of popular education as we have.

WARN AGAINST PROMOTION OF COMMERCIAL PROJECTS

Madison—(AP)—Promotion of children from grade to grade, and promotion of education in general, all right, but no education of commercial projects in Wisconsin schools—this is the sense of a warning to Wisconsin school teachers carried to them through the medium of their state association magazines, the Journal of Education.
The Journal says school authorities must be continually on guard to keep out various promotional projects "by outside interest some of which are of a highly commercial type."
Usually these activities are "dressed in educational attire and take the form of special 'weeks' or educational

SAME FAMILY FURNISHES BARBER 200 YEARS

Blackheath, England.—(AP)—The death here of Job Taylor, barber, ended a sequence of eight men in a single family who have trimmed the whiskers of Blackheath during the reigns of eight British sovereigns.

Taylor's great-grandfather was the village barber in the reign of George I, 200 years ago, and since then his descendants have continued the business.

"Nothing less than clever" would be the proper designation for some of the schemes which are promoted under the guise of education. Frequently some of them do have purely commercial interests."

The school child is regarded by these who would use it as "a splendid salesman," the teachers' magazine says. "This fact was demonstrated when, during the war, schools anxious to do their bit promoted outside activities with a degree of efficiency unequalled before. It has not been easy to get away from the reputation."

Following is a list of graduates: Lawrence Below, Verona Binder, Frances Binder, Linda Doelter, Otto Doelter, Viola Fiechammer, Violet Fischer, Marlin Fritz, Cecelia Gretzinger, Lucile Hanson, Beulah Holmes, Ruth Hundertmark, Ruth Krusack, Maybelle McNinch, William Merrill, Margaret Monty, Eleanor Paulz, Iola Postel, Gertrude Rudolph, Harold Schoepke, Lillian Schunk, Dorothy Jean Stanley, Charlotte Stein, Lucile Stiehm, Lucine Tanner, Margaret Taylor, Shirley Thorson, Carroll Veltz, Neil Vinton, Lucile Welch, Mary Wartimbee and Howard Ziel.
